

IT'S HISTORY NOW—This Associated Press Wirephoto chart shows the plan for this week's historic space rendezvous pulled off by Gemini 6 and Gemini 7. The dramatic chase covered 105,000 miles and more than 3½ orbits. Meanwhile, Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford, who were in the pursuing Gemini 6, left the Aircraft Carrier Wasp today en route to Bermuda and Cape Kennedy, Fla. Their counterparts, Frank Borman and James Lovell, have the go-ahead for the completion of their 14-day endurance ride through space. They're due for a splashdown Saturday morning.

Blast Fells 12 GIs In Viet Terrorism

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A teen-age terrorist tossed a grenade into a truckload of U.S. soldiers in Saigon today, injuring 12 GIs.

It was Saigon's fourth straight day of terrorism marking the fifth anniversary Monday of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The would-be assassin, about 15 or 16, fled in the confusion on the busy street. Only one of the Americans was seriously injured.

In North Viet Nam, Communist MIGs took to the air — but cautiously — during another day of heavy bombardment.

American pilots reported sighting seven Soviet-built MIG-17s which kept a discreet distance while apparently trailing the U.S. jets. An Air Force spokesman said the American planes were too short on fuel to take on the Communist jets.

Two U. S. planes were lost in other operations.

A Navy jet returning from a mission over North Viet Nam crashed into the ramp of the flight deck of the carrier Kitty Hawk and plunged into the sea. The pilot was presumed dead.

Hits Fighter Jet
Enemy ground fire apparently nailed an Air Force F5 Freedom fighter jet which crashed on an attack mission 15 miles from Saigon. An Army helicopter picked up the injured pilot but he died later.

In the ground war, a Viet Cong battalion badly mauled a government company 22 miles northwest of the capital, inflicting heavy casualties. The Reds fled before a relief column came to the scene.

The appearance of the MIGs came after U.S. officials had expressed some concern about the possibility of American air preparedness by Communist jets. The Air Force did not specify the nationality of the MIGs sighted over North Viet Nam.

U.S. planes dropped 73 tons of bombs on the Communist North. Spokesmen said they hit bridges, roads and buildings in the Dien Bien Phu area, near the Laotian border, and the Vinh sector, 170 miles south of Hanoi. No strikes were reported against the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial complex, which was raided Wednesday with an attack on a key power station at Haiphong, the country's major port.

Harass Shipping
In the South, American aircraft aimed at Viet Cong river shipping in the Mekong River delta south of Saigon. Pilots claimed 24 sampans were sunk, seven of them motorized.

The latest outburst of terrorism in Saigon came despite intensified ground and air operations are sure to bring a rising curve of casualties.

Thus far, U.S. battle deaths in Viet Nam still are well below those suffered in any major U.S. war of modern times. In Korea, for example, the United States lost 33,629 men.

The toll of wounded reached 6,863 as of last Monday. More (Continued on Page 35, Col. 2)

Supervisors Ask $400 Boost As Part of $10,472,169 Budget

It's Go-Go for Borman-Lovell Tandem To Complete Record-Busting Journey

$180,000 Earmarked For 467

No Hike for Board, Trustee Unnamed

Ulster County employees earning less than $10,000 a year, except those of Ulster County Highway Department who received an increase in wages last June, will receive an across-the-board increase of $400 per year beginning January 1. Members of the Board of Supervisors will not receive the increase.

The increase in pay for county employees will total an estimated $180,000. Provision for the increase will come from a transfer of monies from the Contingent Fund, General, which appears in the budget as $298,000 item.

Resolution Offered
Members of the Salary Study Committee recommended the across-the-board increase and the resolution for the transfer of funds to meet the salary increase was offered by Supervisors James A. Rapp, (R), Charles Relyea, (R), John C. Quimby, (D), and Roger Mabie, (D), members of the Budget Committee. Chairman Robert Phinney, (R), also a member of the Budget Committee, was still confined to the hospital from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

A recommendation was also made by the chairman of the board directing the clerk of the board that a Salary Study Survey be immediately made with a representative of the State Civil Service, Ulster County Civil Service, County Budget Officer and Salary Study Committee for the purpose of updating the present salary schedule.

At the session which lasted until midnight, the board was unable to agree on appointment of a Community College trustee to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Macdonald DeWitt, one of the original trustees, who resigned due to health. Mr. DeWitt was one of the college's most ardent supporters and not only contributed time to the college but also gave generously of funds toward construction costs.

Russell, Quimby Proposed
The name of Robert S. Russell, Saugerties business man, was proposed by the Republican members and the name of retiring Supervisor John C. Quimby of Marlboro was proposed by the Democratic side of the house. On the vote a 14 to 14 tie resulted with Majority Leader Rapp (R) abstaining and neither resolution was adopted. The vacancy remains.

Kingston Attorney Arthur B. Ewig was named a member of the Ulster County Civil Service Commission to fill a vacancy created by the death of Joseph Deyo.

As a result of several changes in the 1966 tentative budget including salary increases, the gross budget and the amount to be raised by local tax levy was increased by $206,015. The gross budget will be $10,472,169.11 and (Continued on Page 18, Col. 2)

Schwenk Claims County Charges To Delay Budget

Mayor John J. Schwenk today said he expects his report on the new city budget will not come until the last week in the month, mainly because of a late report on county charges against the city.

It was late last year, not only because of a late report of county charges, but because an error had been discovered in them and required considerable time for correction.

Last year the tax rate was not known until Dec. 30, the date of public hearing. It was fixed at $68.32 per $1,000 of assessed valuation and was 34 cents above the 1964 rate.

Total appropriations in the 1965 budget were reported at $2,996,066.49, and the amount to be raised by taxes was $2,814,544.17. Total assessed valuation of taxable property for the year was reported at $41,196,636.

The mayor was unable today to indicate any 1966 budget trend because county charges are still unknown. They were increased for this year, and present reports indicate they are likely to be higher again in 1966.

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The Gemini 7 pilots — assured that the power-producing fuel cells of their space ship would not fail them—hurled confidently onward today to the big goal of 14 days in space.

5,149,000-Mile Flight
After a night of worry over the power system, flight directors determined that it would hold up, and gave the world space endurance champions Frank Borman and James Lovell a "go" for the full distance of 5,149,000 miles.

This would bring them to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean at 9:06 a.m. (EST) Saturday, in the same area where spacemen Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford brought the Gemini 6 down Thursday near the waiting aircraft carrier Wasp.

"There's no reason," astronaut Elliot See told Borman and Lovell in a statewide pass this morning, "that we shouldn't go straight on downhill from now on."

In 193rd Orbit
Gemini 7 entered its 193rd orbit at 10:25 a.m. (EST).

The Gemini 7 astronauts were so sure of themselves that they made a bet with Schirra and Stafford during their historic rendezvous in space Wednesday that they would make a more accurate landing. Gemini 6 missed the aircraft carrier Wasp by less than 15 miles.

The stakes were not dissolved but Borman asked today for accurate figures on the Gemini 6 splashdown point. "There's a lot riding on that," he told mission control.

Weather Is Ideal
Ideal weather conditions that prevailed during the Gemini 6 re-entry will continue Saturday forecasters said.

After keeping cautious watch on the power system through the night, flight directors gave the green light for a full mission to Borman and Lovell as they soared near Bermuda.

This was soon after Gemini 7 entered its 190th orbit.

A warning light, supposed to indicate fuel cell trouble although ground station monitors said the unit's power output was normal, flashed on Thursday. It finally flickered out about 2:20 a.m. today but started burning anew before completion of another orbit.

Plans to Outline New Assessment Office Procedure

John H. Way, executive secretary of the New York Assessors Association, will speak at the January 5 meeting of Ulster County Assessor Association in the supervisors room of the county office building.

Way will have as his subject, "The Proposed Assessment Revision Legislation" which is now being considered. If this law is adopted in its present form, it would replace three member Board of Assessors by one full time assessor appointed for a term of six years possibly to serve one or more towns, to (Continued on Page 35, Col. 6)

County Republicans Back Aldrich for Congressman

Ulster County's Republican Executive Committee at a meeting Thursday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel, lined up with executive committees from Columbia, Greene and Schoharie Counties and unanimously pledged support to the candidacy of Alexander Aldrich of Old Chatham, Columbia County, as the party candidate for Congress in the 28th District.

The county committee represents all towns in Ulster, the City of Kingston and the two major Republican clubs.

Aldrich appeared as the Republican candidate who will definitely oppose incumbent Democratic Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville at the 1966 election.

County Republican Chairman Kenneth L. Wilson, said today the committee last night voted unanimously to support Aldrich.

Last week, Assemblyman Wilson announced his personal endorsement of Aldrich, executive assistant and first cousin of Governor Rockefeller.

At that time, Wilson instructed members of the County Republican Executive Committee to contact their respective organizations and then return to vote on the endorsement.

On Wednesday, members of the Dutchess County GOP Executive Committee at a meeting did not make an official endorsement, even though Hamilton Fish Jr., of Millbrook, is seeking the nomination.

John Ray Mayone, chairman of the City Republican Committee, offered a resolution to endorse Aldrich. Louis P. Francello, Town of Saugerties GOP chairman, seconded the resolution motion. Others seconding the resolution were, R. publican (Continued on Page 35, Col. 7)

Catholics Eye 600 At School

A possible enrollment of 600 pupils was anticipated today for the new co-educational John E. Coleman High School, according to an announcement from the Archdiocese of New York.

Based on Present Needs
The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Raymond J. Rigney, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese, told The Freeman that the figure was based on present needs for the area. He said that it could not be anticipated when construction of the new school — to be built on Route 209 near the Wiltwyck Country Club golf course in the Hurley section — will begin. He said preliminary meetings have been held with the architect, but a drawing has not yet been prepared. However, Msgr. Rigney said, test borings are being made at the proposed site of the four-year Catholic high school, first such institution to serve the Kingston area.

Meanwhile, it could not be definitely learned whether the Academy of St. Ursula at 26 Grove Street, which has served female students in the Kingston area for more than 36 years, would be closed upon completion of the new Coleman High School. Mother Superior Mary Lawrence declined comment on previously published reports that the Academy would be put up for sale upon completion of the new school.

However, The Freeman learned earlier this month that it was anticipated that St. Ursula's would be closed when the high school is built and that the Academy buildings would be put up for sale.

310 Now at Academy
The Academy has a current enrollment of 310 students.

Monsignor Rigney told The Freeman that representatives of the Order of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin, which also staffs St. Joseph's School in Kingston, were present at meetings with the architect and school officials from the Archdiocese.

Seven Catholic elementary schools currently serve the Kingston area: St. Joseph's, St. Mary's, St. Peter's and Immaculate Conception in Kingston; St. Catherine Labouré, Lake Katrine; St. Peter's, Rosendale and St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties. However, boys who wish to attend a Catholic high school must travel either to Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck or Catskill for their advanced parochial education.

Lists Girls Wear
Appropriate school wear for girls includes dresses and blouse or sweater with skirt.

The policy suggests that girl students do not wear: 1—slacks (except skiers on scheduled ski days); 2—tight clothing; 3—V-neck sweater without a blouse; 4—off-the-shoulder blouses or sheer blouses; 5—leopard tops or sweat shirts; 6—unreasonably short skirts; 7—Bermuda shorts or any other shorts; 8—shorts with heels higher than one inch; 9—taps (on shoes); 10—ornate or excessive jewelry; 11—hair curlers; 12—kerchiefs; 13—long dresses (Grannies).

The policy suggests that boy (Continued on Page 35, Col. 8)

Garraghan Is Eyeing Non-Property Taxes

Mayor - Elect Raymond W. Garraghan today said he will seek to gain non-property taxes to relieve the burden on real estate and provide new sources of city revenue.

Also, he said, he plans to name youth and historical commissions.

One tax he is considering, he said, is a 20 per cent so-called sewer tax, which would actually be based on water service and another is a three per cent telephone tax.

A third possible tax, which he is uncertain, at this point, of requesting would be a three per cent utility type tax.

Three similar type taxes were proposed during the administration of Mayor John J. Schwenk but failed to gain Common Council approval.

Garraghan, in mentioning his plans for the two new commissions, said the proposed youth commission would work with the recreation department.

A utility type tax, introduced in 1964, failed to gain council approval. It was reintroduced last February as a means of (Continued on Page 35, Col. 7)

Store Trip Turns Into Tragedy for 2

A Christmas shopping trip to stores in the area Thursday night, ended in tragedy for a Wallkill State Prison guard and his wife, who were killed after their car went out of control and crashed head on into a tree off Route 208 about six tenths of a mile north of Route 44-55 near Ireland Corners.

51, 52 Victims of Year
Killed in the one-car pre-Christmas fatality, which boosted Ulster County's traffic death toll to 52 for 1965, were George J. Coffey, 38, of Box 30-A, Gardiner, and his wife, Dorothy, also 38.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser said today that his supposition is that a deer ran on the highway into the path of the Coffey car and the driver swerved to avoid hitting it, causing the vehicle to leave the highway and hit the tree.

Coroner Keyser said Mrs. Coffey was employed at Blue's Nursing Home, New Paltz. An official at the home told The Freeman that Mrs. Coffey was employed there as a nurse's aide but yesterday was her day off.

The coroner reported Coffey died of a basal skull fracture and lacerations of the brain. Mrs. Coffey's death was due to multiple fractures of the skull and face and brain lacerations. Keyser gave verdicts of accidental death in both cases.

Coffey and his wife were pronounced dead at the scene of the crash which occurred at about 2 a.m. today, by Dr. William M. Pugh, of New Paltz Medical Center, according to State Trooper Stanley Roberts of the Highland sub-station.

Leave Three Children
The Coffeys were the parents of three children, the oldest 14 years. They had been left at home with a baby sitter, it was reported, while the couple went shopping for Christmas gifts.

According to an investigation by State Police Sergeant William Cameron and Troopers Harry Foster, B. S. O'Connor and G. G. Henne the Coffey car was traveling south on Route 208 (Continued on Page 18, Col. 1)

Kingston Democrats Elect Gorman as City Chairman

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, was elected city Democratic chairman at a meeting of the city Democratic Committee in the American Legion building, West O'Reilly Street Thursday night.

He succeeds James T. McCordie, who has moved to the Town of Hurley.

John P. Heitzman, former 12th Ward alderman, was elected deputy chairman; Joseph P. Stenson, treasurer; and Joseph P. Policano, secretary.

Elected to the Board of Directors were: Francis P. Stauble, Thomas Yonta, Donald Gregory, Agnes Loughran and Lawrence E. Woerner. The latter is a former Fourth Ward alderman.

All elected begin their two-year terms on Jan. 1.

Past Chairman McCordie complimented the committeemen for the success he enjoyed in office, especially Orrie R. Riehl (who has been named city treasurer) and Frank C. Sass (former Seventh Ward alderman).

He also commended all the Democratic aldermen, with whom, he said, he had met often.

"They are the finest group of men this city could have to represent it," he said. The committeemen expressed their appreciation for McCordie's leadership.

Riehl said McCordie and Woerner had done "a wonderful job for the Democrats and their organization work, and played a major role in the victories achieved by Raymond W. Garraghan for mayor, Francis Koenig, alderman-at-large, Hubert Richter, for city judge and in returning the Common Council to Democratic control."

Dr. Gorman, as new chairman, said the party should continue to build its importance in the city and county and maintain an effective two-party system.

C-H Acts To Ease Failure

An on-site generator, which would provide start-up electric power to Danskammer Point Steam Station within 90 seconds of a total shutdown, has been purchased by Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation as part of its continuing program to minimize the effects of major power failures occurring outside its own system.

$500,000 Cost
The cost of a diesel generator, with a 5,500 kilowatt rating, was approximately $500,000. The utility estimates that the diesel unit will be installed and available for use by next Nov. 1.

One of the major problems in restoring electric service during the November 9 blackout was the unavailability of adequate auxiliary power to re-start Danskammer Point Steam Station, whose generators tripped out from an overload to prevent extensive damage.

Because of the unavailability of on-site, start-up power for Danskammer, one hour and 55 minutes elapsed before restoration of customer service could be started. This delay amounted to almost half the total time required to restore service to all Central Hudson customers in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Once stopped, Danskammer's turbine generators are virtually useless until an emergency or independent supply of power is obtained to operate several auxiliary motors. These motors are necessary for the crushing of coal, the pumping of oil and other (Continued on Page 18, Col. 1)

Trust Will Open Branch Bank in Ulster on Monday

The Kingston Trust Co. opens its new Ulster Office on Dec. 20; according to George Rusk, president. The site is on the west side of 9W, adjacent to the Montgomery Ward store just north of Kingston.

The offices which are of temporary construction, will serve the community until the permanent building is constructed on the same site. The permanent building will be completed during the summer of 1966.

Meanwhile, Fred P. Carpenter, vice-president and treasurer of the Kingston Trust Co., and that location said, "Starting Dec. 20 we will offer a full range of commercial bank services to the community."

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock traders have been happily catching sight this week of their traditional year-end rally. It's all mixed in with the usual December hullabaloo in Wall Street. But this year has some new twists.

This year-end buying or selling for tax purposes always sends the December market whirling in cross-currents. And the flood of corporate year-end statements and predictions for a better year ahead always influences some stock traders.

And so does the happy announcement of year-end added dividends for stockholders. Tradition Cited

But this year tradition has some other things to contend with that would give a rally more than just a technical significance. There's the war in Viet Nam which currently is influencing much investor thinking. There's the rise in interest rates, an uncertainty in itself, but at this time adding more than usual to the confusion. That is because of the debate over whether the economy is headed for a brush with overheating and inflation or on the contrary is in need of further stimulant, such as cheap money, to keep the long upturn going full speed.

Wall Street also has been wondering about the rush of buying of glamour stocks, those in new or growth companies that are attracting the public's attention. The record volume of trading in stocks also has the experts studying their charts, trying to decide if this spells a traditional bull market, perhaps nearing its peak, or a speculative boom under threat of a bust in weeks ahead.

Return of buying demand in some of the blue chips has been reassuring to those who hope the trading volume is an expression of the general prosperity and just not gambling on the uncertain future.

Sometimes Strong Like most Wall Street traditions, the year-end rally is more sentimental and technical than it is a certainty. Sometimes it is strong. Sometimes it is weak. Sometimes it doesn't even arrive.

The rise this week in the popular stock averages to within whispering distance of their record highs is encouraging the bulls to believe that the year-end rally will develop for sure this time.

Electric Hand Test

LONDON (AP) — The Ministry of Health says Britain's first prototype of an electronic hand for amputees will be tried out next year.

The hand is designed for persons whose forearm has been amputated. Operating signals are taken from remnant muscles in the forearm by surface electrodes. The muscles are stimulated by the electric currents.

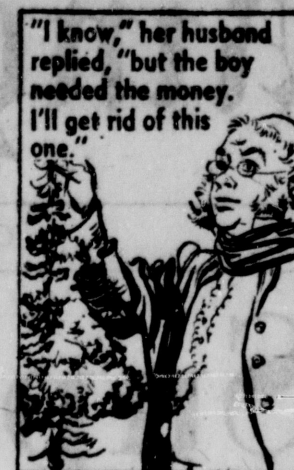

Must Improve Programs

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A State Education Department official says tougher entrance requirements by the University of Kentucky will force 35 per cent of Kentucky's 427 high schools to improve their programs.

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS

"Now, Otto," Mrs. Gottlieb said after Peter had gone, "we need another Christmas tree as much as we need two heads!"

"I know," her husband replied, "but the boy needed the money. I'll get rid of this one."

Later Farmer Gottlieb took the little tree he bought from Peter and tossed it on the village dump.

It looked like an unhappy Christmas for the bushy little tree.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

END OF INDUSTRY-WIDE LABOR BARGAINING?

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 17—Arguments have been common over the pro's and con's of industry-wide labor negotiations, such as have existed for some time in steel. For the most part, steel executives have tended to favor such bargaining in their field. They have pointed out that this prevents the union from tackling one of the weaker companies, forcing on it an unrealistically costly contract, then foisting this on the other firms.

Out of the coal industry came the idea of solid-front negotiations, developed by its "Big Daddy," John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. This spread in 1955 to the Steelworkers, an offshoot of the UMW. But, the way it looks now, the scene is shifting again.

Insiders know that many of the rank and file in steel want the union to take on the companies one by one. They think they can get more that way in wages and benefits. Also they believe they will have a brighter chance of settling special job differences of a non-economic nature at the company level. Union leaders are listening to suggestions. And it is more than possible that the practice of block negotiations with the biggest companies in an industry may eventually be dropped in steel, and possibly in some other fields.

Lessons Learned in 1965 Labor planners recognize that in steel, they are under a new regime. I. W. Abel has replaced David J. McDonald as president of the Steelworkers, and he is not afraid to change tactics if he thinks it will be more rewarding for his membership. Negotiations this year seemed cumbersome to many unionists. Also, they feel that the government will always intervene when a whole industry is threatened, as it did in 1965 and other years before that. Actually, such intervention has almost always favored labor. But still, both sides are strong for free collective action.

Several of those on the new bargaining-study committee are known to have suggested company-by-company attacks earlier this year when the going got tough. Nothing came of it; but at least it showed how the wind is blowing behind the scenes in the union. Hence change may very well be on the horizon. It is expected that the committee will work up some proposals on this matter for consideration at next year's convention.

Fewer Big-Scale Work Stoppages? What will it mean to labor in general if industry-wide negotiations are dropped? For one thing, labor would then have little chance of forcing huge strikes that threaten the nation's welfare. This, in turn, would lessen the necessity for government interference at—or in the shadows behind—a bargaining table. As we have said, both management and organized labor would prefer to fight their own battles to the end without having the government step in.

It might create more small walkouts, but would undoubtedly mean fewer big tie-ups. One employer move in this direction has been seen in the New York City papers closed down if one publisher was struck. But in the blow-up before last, one paper withdrew from the arrangement and kept printing while the others closed down. This year, two publishers stayed out of the "united front" against the union. So, once again, it looks as though both employers and unions are headed away from the controversial concept of multi-company bargaining.

Augusta Cantor writes from New York: "I was playing rubber bridge and was really delighted with my hand. I might well have opened with two clubs but in our game no one ever gets to play one club, so I started conservatively. West's four-spade bid was quite a shock but I hate to be shut out and bid five clubs. West opened the ace of spades and shifted to a heart.

"I played out my ace of clubs, to get the bad news about the four clubs in the East hand. Then I cashed my ace-king of hearts in the hope that East would show up with four hearts, to allow me to get a diamond discard on dummy's jack of hearts. Unfortunately, the hearts were 3-3. Things looked rather grim but there were still possibilities in the diamond suit. I entered dummy with the queen of clubs and led the jack of diamonds. East played low and I did likewise. West was in with the ace and had to give me my contract, because a spade lead would give me a ruff and discard, and a diamond lead would be up to my king-ten. What do you think of the whole hand?

Mrs. Cantor's bid required considerable courage but good players are always courageous. Timid players are seldom winners.

The contract was not the best we have ever seen, but it was far from the worst. Thus, if East and North traded hands, Mrs. Cantor would still have made five clubs. As for the play, it was very good. Augusta succeeded in making the one entry to dummy give double service.

Hundreds Over 65 Sought for Medicare Help

George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston, said today that his office is searching for hundreds of people 65 and over who have never worked under social security or the railroad retirement system. These people, Habernig said, may qualify for Medicare protection.

He emphasized that the new Federal law on Medicare will protect them only if they apply for the protection. There is a deadline for applying. All persons now 65 or over will have the medical insurance part of Medicare only if they apply before next March 31.

All U. S. citizens are eligible for Medicare at 65. If you are not a U. S. citizen, you may still qualify if you were lawfully admitted for permanent residence and have lived in the United States for five consecutive years at the time of application," he said.

Habernig also noted that public welfare recipients who are 65 and over need not get in touch with the social security office. Details for covering those on the welfare roles are being worked out, and the public welfare agency will give these people information on how they may secure Medicare protection.

Habernig asks all who wish to enroll to do so now to avoid the last minute rush.

Professors Oppose Statements on Students Draft

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A group of law professors opposes recent statements that a college student's draft deferment could be revoked "for actions against the national interest."

A letter bearing the signatures of 101 professors at nine law schools has been sent to President Johnson, a spokesman said Thursday night.

The letter noted recent statements by Selective Service personnel warning students that draft-deferments would be withdrawn for actions against the nation's interest.

"Although Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey has more recently qualified this by saying that those performing 'unlawful acts' will be reclassified, there are serious doubts as to the legality of even these reclassifications," the letter stated.

Among those signing the letter were law professors at Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, New York University and the State University of New York at Buffalo.

Just Trying to Pick Up Pieces

'65 Year of Big Silence For Republican Party

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Republicans this has been the year of the big silence. Their 1964 election disaster not only shattered them, it left them practically speechless.

In 1965 occasional Republicans have made occasional statements but their performance as a party for the year can be described as enormously silent.

Criticism Feeble

Their criticism of the Democrats has been feeble and their own proposals have been just about nonexistent, except for the war in Viet Nam. There they want President Johnson to be tougher.

True, they were hugely outnumbered by the Democrats in Congress but that didn't mean they had to stay tongue-tied. They did, though. As they tried to pick themselves up off the political floor they had two hopes:

To try to glue the splintered remnants of the party back together again and to find some issues they might be able to use against the Democrats in the 1966 congressional election year.

If they've found any big ones, they haven't unveiled them. GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss, with the sturdy task of trying to reconcile the various groups who parade under the Republican banner, or would like to, invited the various splinters to come into and under the Republican tent.

But then he ran into something like this: those Republicans who don't want any part of the John Birch Society or any part of it near the GOP tent, much less under it.

Needs Support

Some GOP governors want

Feraca Is Appointed To Senate at Paltz

Joseph Feraca, a former Kingston patrolman and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feraca, RD 2, Box 147, New Paltz, has been appointed to the State Students Senate at the State University College, New Paltz.

Feraca whose father is a constable in the Town of Esopus, will graduate at the college in March. He plans to return to the police department in Kingston.

the party to denounce the Birch Society by name. But the party needs all the support it can get, including contributions, and so this happened this week:

Republican congressional leaders and some governors met to draw up their declaration on extremism. They simply criticized "radical or extremist" groups that try to infiltrate the GOP for their own ends. No mention of Birchites.

And the Birchites, through their public relations director, John Rousselot, said they were mightily pleased the GOP had taken this stand.

Whereupon the Republican

House leader, the not-particularly fiery Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said that if Rousselot endorsed the antixtremist statement, "I have grave doubts he understood its meaning."

There couldn't have been any misunderstanding if the Republican leaders had just ventured to be specific. And the Republican Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said: "Who is this Rousselot?"

If he didn't know, he's probably the only leader in either party who didn't.

Pussy-Foot Action

This is only the latest example of how the party has pussy-footed all year.

Some GOP leaders have expressed the belief the party would do better in the 1966 elections, that the voters will be anxious to preserve the two-party system.

But a political party can only justify its existence if it expresses the thinking and wishes of voters. In 1965 the GOP leaders were simply trying to put their party together again.

As for the 1968 presidential race — there isn't one Republican in sight who at this time could be clearly tagged the party's likely candidate, although that's not unusual this far ahead of time.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

The old-time Christmas, with its simple virtues and traditions, has largely become a part of history. This was the Christmas of homemade toys and gifts, of candle-light trees gay with strings of popcorn and paper ornaments. And something has been lost because of the inevitable changes in the Christmas celebration that the swiftly-passing years have brought. We live in an era of vast material abundance. But the very weight of this lavish materialism can undermine that spiritual abundance which is of infinitely greater importance.

What never must be allowed to change is the Christmas spirit and the Christmas story of the Christ Child. Charity, faith, kindness, courage, strength in the face of adversity—these are among the qualities which Christmas, in its magnificent symbolism, stands for. These too, are qualities which are far too rare in a world torn with jealousies and troubles and marred with cynicism and selfishness.

At any rate, Christmas is almost here again. Let it be a time when children are made happy for Christmas, the heart of Christmas, is theirs most of all. And let it be a time when we who are older recall what the true meaning of Christmas is.

"Peace on earth, good will toward men." These magnificent old words will be spoken once more and the great old music will sound. We have not realized that hope. But each of us at Christmas should resolve to do whatever we can to make it come true.

A New York bank couldn't report on checking accounts for 24 hours because of computer trouble. What an "out" for the man whose check bounced during that period!

MESSAGES OF PEACE

Americans are a people who send Christmas cards by the million. It seems worthwhile, now that most of the cards have been duly received, to think about the messages they have borne to every corner of the land.

There has been a trend away from the old stereotypes, particularly so far as design is concerned. There are still plenty of snowy landscapes and jolly Santas, but the deep influence of contemporary art is apparent. The American Artists Group reports, on the basis of a current survey, that "reverential themes continue to enjoy steady support from the public."

This is an encouraging thing—that despite the growing commercialization of Christmas, the ancient Christian themes of joy and wonder at God's priceless gift to mankind are still dominant in the greetings we send to one another. It also is encouraging, and more than usually significant at this time of deepening involvement in the Vietnam war, that peace is one of the most popular themes in the 1965 cards.

The message of peace and brotherhood, then, has been carried into homes all over the country on the wings of these bright scraps of paper. It is a message all of us should think about, a goal to which all men of good will should rededicate themselves, on this anniversary of the birth of the Prince of Peace.

LBJ says he'll look hard for peace before other hard steps are taken in Vietnam. Unhappily, getting peace talks started seems to be the hardest step of all.

TOWARD SAFER TIRES

About a year ago, the automobile tire manufacturers agreed on their first industry-approved tire standards. The inadequacy of these standards is emphasized by the fact that the Rubber Manufacturers Association has just announced a new set of more stringent requirements to go into effect the first of January.

This is something of an interim triumph for those, in Congress and out, who have been pushing for federal legislation on tire safety standards. "Interim" because even the proposed requirements will not quite match what ought to be done. Though test load and carcass strength standards have been considerably raised, such factors as blowouts and skid resistance are not in-

A SECOND HUMILIATION FOR DE GAULLE?

Prior to the French presidential election of December 5 "they"—meaning the experts—were saying that de Gaulle had a "safe majority" in running for a new seven-year term. The same "they," not in the least abashed by de Gaulle's failure to get an absolute majority in a show-down against five opponents, are now predicting a sure victory for Le Grand Charlie in the coming run-off election. But if you plot the possibilities on a graph in the well-known American pre-election manner, it must appear that de Gaulle could be in for a fearful humiliation.

What the December 5 election campaign demonstrated is that some fifty-six per cent of the French voting population is far from reverential about the man who sets himself up as his nation's "father figure." The five candidates who ran against de Gaulle exploited several sets of grievances. Francois Mitterand, running as the candidate of France's perennial hard-core Left, garnered some thirty-two per cent of the vote; Jean Lecanuet, a man of the center who stood for European unity within the shelter of the western alliance, surprised the world with his sixteen per cent. The extreme rightist, Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, a violent anti-Communist, held five per cent, and the two fringe candidates, Pierre Marclhacy, a moderate, and Marcel Barbu, a supporter of better housing for the masses, shared three per cent between them.

If the "spread" against de Gaulle had been worked out by an anti-Gaullist general staff, it couldn't have been more cleverly devised to pull separate votes. But now that Mitterand, the Leftist, is the only candidate remaining to challenge de Gaulle in the run-off, the pundits are prognosticating a safe return to the fold of most of the strayed sheep.

The pundits could be wrong again. Without having had the benefit of any polls, this long-distance kibitzer would not be in the least surprised if a hefty chunk of the Lecanuet and Tixier-Vignancour vote were to go to Mitterand. The reason is that Mitterand, though a Leftist in theory, has suddenly turned out to be a pragmatist who is willing to run on a "center" platform. In short, he is setting himself as a surrogate, or a trustee, or whatever you want to call it, for the several candidates who kept de Gaulle from getting a presidential majority the first time around.

The question that is at issue is whether Mitterand's "move to the middle" can seem sufficiently honest to attract sincere people. Analyzing his pre-December 5 speeches, it must seem that Mitterand has not really turned his coat. He stood for a resumption of Common Markets in the December 5 election, which marked him then as enough of a "good European" to satisfy those who might object to de Gaulle's "go-it-alone" nationalism. So it could be that he will pick up votes from among the sixteen per cent who voted for Jean Lecanuet the last time. He also stands to profit from the appeal made by rightist Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, who has urged his fiercely anti-de Gaulle five per cent to go for Mitterand in the "finals."

If Mitterand can hold his own thirty-two per cent, he will get most of the Lecanuet and Tixier-Vignancour followings, he could at least reduce de Gaulle's winning margin to a truly humiliating sliver. One reason for believing that he will do just this is that de Gaulle himself has risked the charge of insincerity by his sudden trimming on many questions. On such things as the Common Market and birth control, de Gaulle has blurred his original strong stands. With the blurring there could be a loss of mystique, for when one has set one's self up as an oracle of truth one can hardly afford to admit that the devil may have something to say for his side.

Maybe the Communists will cross all this up by deserting Mitterand this time around for de Gaulle. But the point is that nothing that can happen on December 19 will be surprising: de Gaulle can no longer depend on the magic of his name.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Pain Not Caused By Hole in Heart

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Nespaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am 22 years old and have what my doctor calls a ventricular septal defect. A catheter introduced into my heart a few years ago indicated that there was no significant leakage. Would this hole in my heart cause pain in my chest? Will the hole ever close?

A—Although a hole in the partition between the two ventricles will never close spontaneously. It will not cause pain in your chest. Some other cause for such pain should be sought. If the leakage is slight you need not worry about the hole as it will not get any larger with age.

Q—My daughter has a heart murmur. What is the cause? Is it dangerous?

A—Your doctor must determine whether the murmur is organic (due to a structural change in the heart—congenital or following an attack of rheumatic fever) or functional (of no significance). The loudness of a murmur gives no clue to the seriousness of the underlying cause. A functional murmur usually disappears for a while immediately after exercise.

Q—I am 50 and have an enlarged heart. After a trial of treatment with digitalis, I am still short of breath. My doctor says I should have my leaky aortic valve replaced with an artificial one. Would this operation provide permanent relief of the shortness of breath and eliminate the need for digitalis?

A—There are no ironclad, written guarantees in the practice of medicine because there are always a number of variables and unknown factors involved. Every operation is a calculated risk. In your case, I would say that there is an excellent chance that with modern heart surgery your health should be improved by the operation and your need for medicine eliminated.

Q—For what conditions is Metamucil given? Would it be helpful for a spastic colon?

A—Metamucil is a psyllium seed preparation that has been described as smoothage in contrast to roughage (the indigestible cellulose in vegetables and fruit). It absorbs water from the contents of the digestive tract and increases the bulk and softness of the stools without causing irritation. It is given to persons who, because of an irritable colon, mucous colitis or spastic colon, cannot stand roughage and to persons with piles or other painful conditions of the outlet of the bowel.

Anyone who takes this drug should drink a large amount of water to make up for the water that is lost in the soft stool.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of the Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

cluded in the planned testing program.

Under ordinary circumstances, it might seem unfair to go on agitating for even higher standards when the industry is plainly responding to demands for more built-in safety. The circumstances are not ordinary. Car speeds are on the increase, and the number of vehicles is going up rapidly. If manufacturers do not take every possible step toward safer operation, federal law forcing them to do so will still be needed.

A financial columnist writes that the economic "mix" is going to be quite different in 1966. Most of us are mixed-up enough as it is.

"What's So Reserved About That?"

Washington News

By BRUCE BOSSART
Washington Correspondent,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Two major new developments, just coming to light, put sharp emphasis on the turning-point status of the civil rights movement today.

SOON AFTER THE FIRST OF THE YEAR, several civil rights groups are planning to hold, individually, an intensive series of "in-house" discussions to determine where they go from here. This intention, communicated by a reliable civil rights source, provides confirmation that Negro leaders feel a need to chart new goals and methods now that the "demonstration technique" has done its work in getting broad civil rights laws on the books.

The report has it that the groups in question will be seeking practical, tough-minded proposals which may offer some real hope of moving the glacier of northern de facto segregation and at the same time of assuring more than the largely token enforcement of civil rights laws in the South.

TWO OR THREE of the more militant civil rights organizations, including CORE and the Student Non-violent Co-ordinating Committee (SNICK), face a critical shortage of funds which reflects the marked change in the wind away from the drama of street marches, picket lines and sit-ins.

It is also reported, by the same dependable source in the Negro community, that the militants' financial difficulties and general loss of steam are contributing to factional quarrels which could in the near future produce a shakeup in the leadership of both CORE and SNICK—if not others.

Said to be endangered in CORE is James Farmer, national director, while in SNICK both John Lewis, chairman, and James Forman, executive secretary, could be toppled in a major upheaval.

The CORE-SNICK money drought is evidently not yet severe enough to threaten these groups' continued existence. But the word is it could reach that stage if an upturn in revenues does not come soon.

THE MILITANTS' PREDICAMENT is, however, already extreme in another sense. They were born for high drama. They are puzzled as to how to adjust to a new era which may have only occasional call for it.

At the recent White House Conference on Civil Rights, some disgruntled militants worked off their frustrations by lashing out at everybody—their white liberal friends, white America in general, the older, more established Negro groups, President Johnson.

It will not make them any happier to see the more settled, better financed organizations calmly sitting down in early 1966 to plot a fresh course which, though it may be modest in the emotional content, the militants cherish, hopefully will suggest an imaginative array of hard-hitting plans for more effective motion on the job, school and housing fronts.

THERE WILL BE A DEADLINE, of course, for conferees in any "in-house" civil rights parleys called next year. They will be pointing for the full White House Conference on Civil Rights, likely to be set for mid-spring or later.

Downrated though it was in some quarters, the November planning session for that conference actually produced a handful of ideas in closed panel meetings. Some of these will help fuel up the civil rights conferees in their planned 1966 give-and-take.

Inevitably, Negro leaders' 1966 conference proposals will make strong demands on the President and federal agencies for still more laws, executive orders, enforcement of present law. The preliminary report of the planning conference already makes that clear.

Greater interest may nevertheless center on Negro proposals outside the federal sphere. The practical inventiveness of these plans will measure keenly how well the civil rights movement may manage its painful shift away from the excitement of the streets.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

West End, Grand Bahama—He is as dark as polished ebony and he wears a sprig of gray over his ears and a polished grin out front. His name is Stephen Hollingsworth and he is about the best fishing captain in the Bahamas. And yet I've been out with him when he didn't even get his bait back.

Steve is a native. The Negroes of the Bahamas do not like to be called Negroes. They don't mind if you refer to them as "colored" or as West Indians, but they think that the word Negro equates them with Africans. They live in little ancient villages along the edge of the jade sea. There is very little cash. They sail in creaky sloops, catching fish and dredging conch, and if the catch is good, they eat a little, sell a little, and the men "skylark."

This means drinking and consorting with women not their own. The children are "in," meaning the result of legal marriage; or "out" as the result of a momentary love. In either case, the father acknowledges the child and gives it his name. There is no stigma.

Steve is a product of West End. His father was a sloop captain from Barbados. He hunted sponges. Steve got four years of schooling and then followed the sea. In the era of prohibition, his mother had a boarding house for bootleggers, who ran between Grand Bahama and Florida.

The slow shrimpers ran 600 cases of British scotch to St. Augustine. The little seaplanes—Stearmans and Curtiss Robins—carried 25 cases and a pilot. The natives earned good money loading and unloading booze. Steve got $100 a night for working on the shrimp boats, but there wasn't much of that.

Most Bahamians learn about boats and the sea and the winds by experience. Hollingsworth, with a skimpy education, bought books and was taught navigation by a German sea captain. He also had to learn every reef and cove in the archipelago of the islands. Today, at the age of 50, he is one of the two captains named as guides in the official book on the Bahamas.

I have been aboard when he has "smelled" big fish on a flat sea. "They're not feeding here," he would say. "Pull in them lines. We got sail and marlin over there," and he would point several miles off course. When he got "there," the fish were waiting. I have also seen a line hit, the reel singing out, and Steve could call out the type of fish and the size before it broke the surface.

Atheism Cause Is Given Involuntary Aid by Court

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States may not have intended to prescribe a "religion" which could be taught in the public schools, but it has given an involuntary assist to the cause of non-belief in God.

The high court has just rejected the plea of a group of parents of Protestant, Jewish and Armenian apostolic faiths who asked, through court action, that their children in public schools be allowed voluntarily to engage in a prayer that mentions the word "God." As a result of the court ruling the impression is conveyed to the pupils for all time that there is something wrong with a belief in God. This is exactly what atheism claims. Atheism is regarded by some people as a kind of "religion" in itself.

The high court decisions heretofore have been based on the idea that the government must remain "neutral" as between religions. But not until the latest ruling, specifically banning voluntary prayer requested by the parents of children of virtually all faiths has the Supreme Court placed itself squarely on record against even a prayer that is neutral as between the sects.

The Constitution says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." This would appear to mean that neither can the Supreme Court help to establish any religion, whether it is atheism or anything else.

The controversy has been getting more and more tangled ever since the Supreme Court in 1962 tackled the question of prayer in the schools. The high court ruled then that the educational officials of a state or local government cannot lawfully compose a prayer and direct that it be uttered by pupils in public-school classes or assemblies. Nothing was said by the court about the right of students to engage in silent prayer or to recite aloud prayers prepared for them by a group of parents of all faiths.

The latest case involves a request by the parents to the principal and teachers to let the pupils say, during the classroom periods when they are served milk and crackers or cookies, one of two familiar prayers which have no sectarian connection. One prayer says simply: "God is great. God is good, and we thank Him for our food. Amen! The other reads:

"Thank You for the world so sweet,
"Thank You for the food we eat,
"Thank You for the birds that sing—
"Thank You, God, for everything."

New York school officials forbade the prayers, but a Federal district court upheld the right of the parents. Then, a U. S. circuit court of appeals, relying on previous rulings by the Supreme Court, reversed the lower court. The case was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, which let the appeals court ruling stand.

The prayer problem now, however, has been enlarged. Although the parents agreed on a neutral prayer suitable for all, it is being banned, presumably because atheists could object. Recognition of atheism as an "established religion" is thus given legal sanction.

The only formula that remains to be tested is one whereby the parents give their children copies of the text of certain prayers and request the teachers to permit a brief intermission during which the pupils can recite in silence or say out loud the prayers prepared for them by their own parents. Will this, too be barred, as an "establishment of religion"?

The Supreme Court in the past has ruled that public-school students may be excused in what is called "released time" so as to be able to attend religious services outside the school buildings. The question now is whether or not a silent prayer during a brief interval of "released time" would be regarded as government action "establishing" a religious exercise.

Sooner or later the Supreme Court will have to decide if the courts have been negligent in failing to stop the Treasury Department — a full-fledged government agency — from putting on all coins the phrase "In God We Trust." Incidentally, sessions of the Supreme Court itself continue to be opened with the exhortation, "God save the United States and this honorable court."

Eventually, it would appear, a Constitutional amendment may be needed to protect and safeguard the words of the First Amendment which provide that the Federal government shall not interfere with the "free exercise" of religion.

Surmise Moon's Surface Is Sand Ten Feet Deep

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — The moon's surface probably is a loose layer of fine sand-like material. The stuff is at least 10 feet and possibly "tens of meters" deep.

But it won't cause any significant trouble for American astronauts when they attempt moon landings in their Apollo spacecraft, say Donald E. Gault and William L. Quaide, scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center here.

Basal For Theory

Gault, a 20-year veteran in NASA aerodynamics research, and Quaide, a geologist, base their theory on laboratory experiments by which they closely matched the moon crater pictures transmitted to earth by the Ranger spacecrafts.

The laboratory results were confirmed in field tests with missiles impacting into target areas at White Sands proving ground in New Mexico.

With Ames laboratory guns, they fired glass projectiles into 15-by-18-inch targets of ground quartz, pumice, and carborundum at angles ranging from vertical to 15 degrees.

Their purpose was to simulate the space particle bombardment which they assume the moon has undergone constantly throughout its more than four million years of existence.

Caused By Projectiles

The crater shapes in the Rangers' moon pictures persuaded Gault and Quaide that most were caused by secondary projectiles. These are tossed out as debris by the impact of a primary body—a meteorite or tiny micrometeorite.

Compared with the tremendous speeds of meteorites hurtling in from space, the secondary debris fragments move at very low velocities.

Gault, Quaide, and their NASA colleagues closely duplicated the geometry of the moon craters with low-velocity projectiles hitting into ground quartz and pumice targets.

An accidental finding convinced Gault and Quaide that a spacecraft landing on the moon likely would not sink deeply into the loose granular surface.

While hunting for test target materials, they drove a two-ton truck over pumice dust in the Mono Crater in eastern California. The four-wheel-drive truck rambled without difficulty over the powdered lava, a stuff finer than beach sand.

They expect a Surveyor landing on the moon, to be attempted next year, will confirm many of their experiments.

The unmanned Surveyor spacecraft will carry a television camera capable of photographing granular particles with diameters down to one-tenth of an inch.

Early Bird Proves $82,875 Poverty Fund Rejected By Beverly Hills

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's most brilliant performer Thursday was a man-made one, the Early Bird satellite. It brought into millions of homes the conclusion of one of the most exciting adventure stories of our time — and we saw it as it happened.

The event was the magnificent live coverage of the recovery of the Gemini 6 space capsule from the Atlantic Ocean, safely home after its history-making rendezvous with Gemini 7.

The live broadcast was made possible by cooperation among various government arms concerned with the flight and the television network pool. A big saucer-like contraption, rigged on the carrier Wasp transmitted television signals to the satellite which in turn relayed them to the broadcasting channels and into our homes.

When the capsule was being secured to the ship's lines, viewers could see the Navy frogmen at work better than many aboard the carrier itself. We were right on the spot, too at that moment when the capsule's hatches were opened and two grinning astronauts emerged.

The staffs of the three networks did their usual lucid jobs of covering the descent of the spacecraft with illustrations and animations of the stages.

NBC plans a two-part "white paper" on the late John F. Kennedy, the first one to be broadcast on the anniversary of the late president's birthday, May 29. The second comes a week later.

Recommended weekend viewing: Tonight — "Mr. Magoo's Christmas Carol," NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST, repeat of the cartoon show for children.

Saturday — "Big Sky Country," ABC, 9:30-10:30 p.m., second in the "This Proud Land" series, exploring the prairie country with Robert Preston, host.

Early Bird Proves $82,875 Poverty Fund Rejected By Beverly Hills

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — This wealthy city of movie stars and millionaires has declined with a "thank you anyway," an offer of $82,875 in poverty funds.

"We really didn't feel we could honestly say the money was needed," said School Supt. Kenneth L. Peters. "We were able to find only eight children of 5,000 enrolled who could possibly be classed as 'needy.'"

"In our judgment, these children are not educationally deprived or handicapped. They are in small classes that average 25 and remedial help is available if needed."

The allotment formula, under the 1965 Federal Education Act, was based on the 1960 census which showed that of 30,817 Beverly Hills residents, 460 families reported an average income of less than $2,000.

"Although we could have qualified for the funds, we felt it just would not be in the spirit of the program to accept," Peters said.

Archaeologists have found pieces of man-made iron nearly 5,000 years old.

Holiday Taking Over Television Next Seven Days

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's Jingle Bells and "White Christmas" time in televisionland. The next seven days will bring the viewers the usual supply of both — plus six special programs, two new day-time game shows and the return of a summer replacement for emergency winter duty.

In the special department, there is tonight's repeat on NBC of the cartoon "Mr. Magoo's Christmas Carol" (7:30-8:30 EST).

Saturday brings the second in ABC's "This Proud Land" series, with host Robert Preston introducing the television audience to sights of the Great Plains and Rocky Mountain states.

Christmas week opens with a Perry Como special on NBC. His guests on Monday night (9-10) include soprano Roberta Peters and the Muppets, a puppet act. CBS will present dancers Edward Villella, Melissa Hayden and Patricia McBride in the ballet "Nutcracker Suite" on Tuesday (7:30-8:30 p.m.). Wednesday entries are CBS'

"Miss Goodall and the Wild Chumpazees," (7:30-8:30) — the second in a series produced by the National Geographic Society, and NBC's "Michelangelo: The Last Giant," (9-10), first of a two-part series about the Italian painter.

The two new shows are ABC's "Supermarket Sweep" and "The Dating Game" which move into the network's morning schedule next Monday from 11 a.m. to noon.

Monday night, "Art Linkletter's Hollywood Talent Scouts" replaces the canceled "Steve Lawrence Show" on CBS (10-11) with Debbie Reynolds, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, and Charlton Heston among the nonperforming guest stars.

Space Rendezvous Proves Ship Docking Is Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The successful rendezvous of the Gemini 6 and 7 space vehicles has pointed the way toward the first step needed if the military is to have a useful role in space.

But neither Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara nor Pentagon experts feel this peaceful scientific demonstration in itself will lead to military activity in space in the near future.

Docking Possible

What Wednesday's rendezvous did was to show the ability to "dock" one orbiting space vehicle with another — and thus transfer and supply crews of large, comparatively permanent space stations without bringing the ships to earth each time.

With no decision made on how the military might utilize space, the Defense Department has received President Johnson's approval to go ahead with the $1.5-billion "Military Orbiting Laboratory" MOL — aimed at determining what military men could do in space and how this could benefit the national defense.

The Pentagon rules out, basically any idea of using satellites carrying nuclear weapons to be put down on targets either by making the vehicles re-enter the earth's atmosphere and directing them to targets or by releasing the weapon from the vehicle and aiming it at the target.

There are two reasons for this: U.S. defense experts insist that better accuracy, reliability and warhead load can be obtained with long-range ballistic missiles; and there is agreement between the major nuclear powers not to use satellite as weapons.

There are, however, obvious fields of interest for those contemplating future possibilities for military space activities.

The first is inspection of suspected space vehicles which might be carrying weapons and be either manned or unmanned. Here close approach or even actual entry into the suspected vehicle would be needed. If the vehicle proved hostile, it would be necessary to destroy it, again by a rendezvous close enough so the explosion of the intercepting weapon would do the job.

Then there is surveillance of the earth. That already is being done by unmanned, highly instrumented satellites which scan the earth from polar orbits. Both the United States and the Soviet Union have such systems.

The use of rendezvous could make possible the posting of large, manned "space platforms" in orbit, primarily as a base in the sky for sending out smaller vehicles to conduct inspection or surveillance. Such platforms presumably would be assembled in the sky from parts sent up by cargo-like vehicles.

Pleased About Cohoes Decision On Duty Charges

COHOES, N.Y. (AP)—Police woman Faith Barnes says she is "tickled to death over a decision by city officials to drop abandonment of duty charges against her."

Mrs. Barnes will return to work Dec. 24 under an agreement reached Thursday with the commissioner of public safety and Police Chief John Kielbaso, who had pressed the charges and suspended her Tuesday.

Mrs. Barnes had been accused of leaving an investigation last Friday "to further her own interest" by consenting to an interview with a television station.

She has been at odds with her superiors over alleged discrimination because of her sex. Last October, she filed a complaint with the State Commission for Human Rights. A second complaint was filed this week when Mrs. Barnes said the suspension came as a retaliatory action for her original complaint.

Mrs. Barnes, the mother of four, pleaded guilty to lesser charges of exercising poor judgment and publicly quarreling with superior officers over departmental matters.

Mrs. Barnes, the only woman on the police force in this city near Troy, said Thursday she will not withdraw her complaint alleging discrimination. She contends that she has not been paid on the same scale as male officers although, she says, her duties are the same.

Mrs. Barnes said she had to leave the investigation because she was ill. The police department said she did so because of the scheduled TV interview.

Capitol News In Brief

Must Sign Loyalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 2 million persons will have to sign non-Communist statements to qualify for the new medicare program.

A Welfare Department spokesman said the requirement was included in the bill passed by Congress.

Under the law, some 19 million Americans over 65 are eligible for payments covering a major portion of their hospital costs.

About 17 million of them have Social Security or railroad retirement coverage.

The other 2 million are not under either system, so their benefits will be financed from the Treasury's general funds, and it is members of this group who must sign the statements.

157 Planes Lost in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has lost 157 warplanes in action over North Vietnam, but only a few have been felled by surface-to-air missiles.

Figures made available Thursday show that 160 SAM missiles have been fired. They are credited with eight kills.

Many U.S. planes have eluded the SAMs by low-altitude flying which let them escape the missile's radar system.

Add Bomb Sources

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says 750-pound bombs are being used at such a fast pace in Viet Nam that three new production sources have been added.

At the same time, the Pentagon says, "there are no shortages of ordnance" in Viet Nam. Among the biggest users of the 750-pound bombs are the B52 heavy jet bombers which operate out of Guam. Each of those warplanes carries about 50 bombs per mission.

Capital Footnotes

The Senate-House Economic Committee has concluded four days of hearings on the Federal Reserve Board and its raising of discount rates. The Atomic Energy Commission says two underground nuclear tests were conducted Thursday in Nevada. Nicholas Katzenbach will argue his first Supreme Court case since becoming attorney general when the high court considers the constitutionality of the 1965 Civil Rights Act. The Food and Drug Administration says analyses of water in ice-ball coolers has shown no significant amount of disease-causing organisms.

Capital Quotes

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman: "The real cost of food, measured in terms of family income spent to get it, is the lowest in history."

President Johnson: "We rededicate ourselves in this season of good will to the ultimate promise of peace made 2,000 years ago."

Jackie Goes to Party

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy attended a Christmas party for the young and elderly in the Bronx Thursday and took along part of a Broadway musical with her.

She held 4-year-old Bobby Johnson on her lap while 17 members of the cast of "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" performed. Alan Jay Lerner, who wrote and produced the show, was there, too.

The party was given by the Children's Holiday Party Foundation, a trust established by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and several men who worked with him in his election campaign last year.

Fast, Vigil Continue

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 48-hour fast and vigil was continued today by a small group of students at the State University at Buffalo protesting America's Viet Nam policy.

The demonstration, by about 45 students, was sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society.

The fast and vigil began at 4 p.m. Thursday and will continue until 4 p.m. Saturday, a spokesman said.

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

From my memories of childhood, most of our tree trimmings were edible, and so it is with ours. You might say these are directions for a Yum-Yum Christmas tree.

I don't need as many ornaments on my tree, because it is laden with candy canes and gum drops (pierced with the straightened end of an ornament hook), and hung in great abundance. It makes the tree truly enchanting.

And here's your nylon net again!

Cut squares of varied colors, large enough to gather up around a small tangerine, leaving enough of the tie string or ribbon to make a loop for the tree. Use small apples, polished until they gleam, wrapped and tied with the same... net.

Cookies and gingerbread men, decorated like Santas, are baked with the string in the dough. I use the string to hang the gingerbread men on the tree.

Of course, I don't use artificial snow or angel hair on my tree. My little girl delights in inviting her little friends over for a yummy from her tree.

This also teaches her the joy of giving.

L. Clark

Dear Folks:

Here's a little hint for those of you who buy cheese in one or two pound boxes: When you cut the cheese at one end (after removing the foil), try using one of those little oil plastic sandwich bags over the cut end and putting a rubber band around it, before you put it back in the box.

Fits like a glove. Keeps the air out so the cheese won't dry.

Can be used over and over again.

After capping the cut end with the plastic bag, always put the cheese back in the cardboard carton it came in.

Sure saves cheese in the long run.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Your suggestion to use discarded auto cool-cushions as door mats has been gratefully received at our house.

We discovered another use for them:

When our little dog has muddy feet, we stand her on the cushion to wash 'em. The mud and water goes through the mesh, and she doesn't pick up the old, dirty water when she suddenly decides to sit or lie down in the middle of the ordeal. Cleaner feet, too.

D.W.

Dear Heloise:

Fabric softeners, when added to the final rinse of the washing cycle of your machine, will help eliminate static electricity in clothing.

Joan King

Dear Heloise:

At last I have solved the problem of uneven and pulled-out stitching on bound buttonholes: Using the buttonhole attachment on the sewing machine, I work the desired size of buttonhole — the material will determine the thickness and width of the stitching.

Do not cut open, but simply baste the piece of material over the worked buttonhole and stitch as closely as possible to the outside edges and ends of the machine stitching.

Cut the buttonhole, pull the material through, as in making an ordinary bound buttonhole, and finish it the same way.

This method saves endless measuring, marking, and eliminating the ends pulling out, and having uneven, crooked sides.

Mrs. Jean Fields

Dear Heloise:

When cleaning celery, I have found that a potato peeler is very good to use.

It takes off the strings in nothing flat.

Lu

Dear Heloise:

I am 12 years old, and hope my hint will help someone. During a snowstorm, I found that by using small plastic bags inside my mittens, I was able to keep my hands dry longer, and make more snowballs that way.

Also, my hands stayed warmer.

Home on Leave

A Kingston Navy man, Richard Draves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Draves of 108 Harwich Street, Kingston, is home on leave from Great Lakes, Ill., after completing Class A and B School, in electronics. Upon completion of his leave he will report to San Diego, Calif., on Dec. 28. He graduated from Kingston High School in June 1964 and enlisted in the Navy after completing Class A and

Completes Basic

WALTER BRANDT JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brandt Sr., 63 Grant Street, has completed his basic training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. He is spending a 14-day leave at the home of his parents. On completion of his leave, he will return to the Great Lakes Center to attend a Class A Training School for 16 weeks.

On Nuclear Carrier

Chief Aviation Electrician's Mate Robert A. Mierop, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mierop of Route 55, Napanoch, will always remember Dec. 2, 1965 — the day nuclear-powered warships were first used in armed combat against an enemy. He is serving aboard the nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise.

As the carrier Enterprise went into combat, launching air strikes against the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, the nuclear-powered guided missile frigate Bainbridge was again at the "Big E's" side, providing anti-air and anti-submarine defense for the world's largest aircraft carrier.

These two ships recently completed a 30-day, 16,000-mile transit from Norfolk, Va., to the Western Pacific to become the first nuclear-powered vessels to operate with the Seventh Fleet.

The nuclear reactors in these ships provide almost unlimited range and the ability to stay at sea for extended periods without refueling. Without the need for constant refueling, they are a valuable asset to the 7th Fleet striking forces operating throughout the Western Pacific.

How Pearls Are Formed

When an irritating piece of matter enters the shell of an oyster, the epithelium sac encircles the parasite. Inside this sac, the parasite is coated by thin sheets of pearl. Soon it is completely covered and a lustrous pearl is formed.

CRUMBLING CAPITOL—The sagging West Front of the Capitol in Washington is shored up to prevent threatened collapse. The oldest portion of the building, it has been crumbling away bit by bit for years. Suggestion of Capitol architect J. George Stewart, viewing the shaky facade, is to extend the building by putting up a new West Front duplicating the existing wall.

World News In Brief

Marcos Declared Winner By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANILA (AP) — After three days of wrangling over charges of vote fraud, Congress declared Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos winner in the presidential election and Marcos today proclaimed himself president-elect of the Philippine Republic. Marcos, 48, a World War II guerrilla hero, also declared Sen. Fernando Lopez vice president-elect. Marcos and Lopez, running on the Nacionalista party ticket, defeated President Diosdado Macapagal and Sen. Gerardo Roxas of the Liberal party in the Nov. 9 election. Roxas had delayed the proclamation. The final official tabulation, submitted to Congress on Tuesday, gave Marcos victory by 673,572 votes and Lopez a margin of 26,724. They will be inaugurated Dec. 30.

Defeats Censure Move

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government mustered a one-vote majority in Parliament Thursday night to defeat another censure move by the Conservative party. With Prime Minister Harold Wilson absent in the United States, the Tories introduced a motion to reject a government bill to abolish the territorial army, the equivalent of the U.S. National Guard. The motion in the House of Commons was rejected 292-291. Had the motion carried, Wilson might have had to call a national election. The Laborites have a nominal Commons majority of two votes over the combined opposition.

Prayer Book Revised

LONDON (AP) — In a modernization move the Church of England has made the first major revision of its prayer book in more than 300 years. The revision includes alternate forms of service that may be used starting next May 1 if approved by two-thirds of the Church Assembly. Dr. Michael Ramsey, the archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England, called the innovations "adventurous."

Wawarsing Group Hears of Dimes Campaign Plans

At least half the beds in the children's hospitals of America are occupied by birth defect victims according to William Kelly, Ulster County March of Dimes chairman in an address to a meeting of Town of Wawarsing workers at the Fallsview Hotel in Ellenville recently.

Representing the local committee were Mr. and Mrs. George Barthel, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Resnick, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sinick, Miss Ann Parmer, Miss Sadie Katz, Mrs. Marguerite Gonder, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Terwilliger, James Furman, Kenneth Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Turkfeld, Mrs. Irwin Stein, Mrs. Bernard Wainer and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Sheffield. Kelly and Meyer Kaplan, together with Sergeant William Hartley the Kingston Police Department attended from Kingston to address the local group.

A further meeting of the committee is scheduled at the Fallsview for the second Tuesday in January.

Mr. Barthel, local chairman, appointed the following committee heads: Mother's March, Mrs. Sheffield and Mrs. Wainer; treasurer, Miss Parmer; tickets, Mitchell and Charles Craft; teenage activities, Mrs. Charles Craft and Mrs. Stein; awards, Mrs. Barthel and Mrs. Turkfeld; publicity, Sheffield.

Furman, chairman of the Napanoch group, announced that the Napanoch Ball will be held on Feb. 5 at Wenig's Restaurant.

He emphasized that each parish was free to decide whether it would try the experimental services to keep to the traditional forms given in the Act of Uniformity of 1662.

Storm Lashes Japan

TOKYO (AP) — A cold wave and a heavy snowstorm lashed most of Japan today, crippling the Tokaido "Bullet Train" and highway transportation. Five fishermen were missing after they were thrown overboard off the northern Kurile Islands. Sixty per cent, or 65 trains, were canceled on the Tokaido line between Tokyo and Osaka.

Heart Office Warns Against Extra Poundage

The Ulster County Heart Association asks readers to take a few minutes from the hustle and bustle of holiday preparation and read carefully the following article.

How would you like your Christmas dinner piped through a tube at the mere touch of a button? You could have all you want in the form of a commercial liquid formula that is 20 per cent protein, 30 per cent fat, and 50 percent carbohydrate.

That would be taking the joy out of Christmas, you say? We're not surprised.

It was no fun, either, for a group of obese subjects being treated by such a feeding device at St. Luke's Hospital in New York. When food was offered to them in this form only over a long period, their intake dropped to calorie levels ranging from a mere 53 to 332 per day. (A fair range for reducing diet is 1,200-1,800.) Weight loss was marked in these cases.

No one is suggesting that feeding machines will ever take the place of roast turkey and all the trimmings, or that they should. The experiment does, however, point to the secret ingredient in every would-be-diet's weight problem, the Ulster County Heart Association notes.

You guessed it: Food. The better it looks, smells and tastes, the more you are tempted to eat and overeat. It figures. If a heaping plate loaded with stuffed turkey basking in a bath of rich gravy, cuddling up to a mount of candied sweets and surrounded by hot, buttered biscuits, isn't there, you aren't going to eat it. But let a well-meaning wife or hostess mount such a production for your benefit, and you're helpless.

Calories Are Culprit

Once a year won't hurt you, of course. It's the long-running repeat performances, three times a day, every day, that add menacing pounds to the other burdens we carry.

While the Ulster County Heart Association doesn't suggest taking the meal away from the man, it does propose taking some of the calories away from the meal. This requires forethought, some knowledge of caloric and nutritional values, and a few cooking tricks. The results can be just as palatable as the fattening feast described above.

Let's take that Christmas menu, for a starter. Turkey is fine for a main course (duck or goose are too fat). But try basting it with consomme instead of fat. And use fat-free bouillon to moisten the stuffing.

Try acorn or butternut squash instead of candied sweet potatoes. Baked with a light glaze of brown sugar and cinnamon, they're in the holiday spirit at half the price in calories.

Mushrooms, which are low in calories, can add glamor as well as savor to the main course. Toss the salad with lemon juice or low-calorie dressings spiked with herbs. And for a sweet touch to top off the feast, there is a variety of fruit or whipped gelatin desserts to take the place of rich pie or pastry.

One basic rule for this and every meal you serve, be it for two or a crowd: don't push seconds. Moderate portions will help keep the calories down.

Other basic principles the Ulster County Heart Association urges you to keep in mind for family meals the year round are:

Eating patterns are established in early childhood. The meals you serve can set your children on the road to good health and longer life.

Starts at Market

Calorie cutting begins at the supermarket. Buy only lean cuts of meat (avoid fat-larded prime steaks and rib roasts); plan more meals around fish and poultry.

Back in the kitchen, your cooking methods should be calorie- and cholesterol-conscious. Use skim milk in recipes calling for milk, broil, rather than fry or saute; use polyunsaturated cooking oil and special margarines wherever possible. Prepare soups and stews a day ahead, and refrigerate; skim the congealed fat from the top before heating and serving the next day.

And if, at the same time, you can promote a program of greater physical activity, you and your family will really have something to be thankful about when the holiday season rolls around next year: good health and good looks.

The Heart Association of Ulster County wishes all a sane and healthy holiday and new year. It has often been wisely said "An ounce of prevention..." and just remember your "ounces of prevention" may mean a continued year of good health which can be enjoyed with your loved ones."

The first Pan-American Conference was held in 1889.

Young Woman Is Killed by Auto Chased by Police

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A young woman motorist was killed today when, police said, her automobile was struck by a car that police were pursuing on the city's west side.

Miss Cecile B. Kennerly, 20, of Buffalo, was killed and a passenger in her car, Joseph Liberto, 34, also of Buffalo, was injured. He was reported in fair condition at a hospital.

Two policemen, riding in their patrol car, said they spotted Charles Sodaro, 29, of Buffalo, driving his car and attempted to halt him. They said Sodaro was wanted on a morals charge.

Sodaro drove off, police said, and was pursued three blocks before his car and Miss Kennerly's collided.

Police said Sodaro fled from his car, ignoring several shots fired by one of the patrolmen. He was captured a short distance away.

Sodaro was charged with reckless driving, hit-and-run and refusing to obey a request of an officer.

Solon Received Farewells, Now Plans to Return

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colleagues of Rep. Oren Harris joined in farewell eulogies to a departing member before Congress adjourned in October. Harris responded with what was considered a farewell address.

But Harris now plans to be in his seat when the House reconvenes Jan. 10.

Commission Unsigned

The reason: President Johnson, who nominated the Arkansas Democrat in July to be a federal judge, still hasn't signed the formal commission although the Senate confirmed the nomination in August. And Harris doesn't plan to give up his House seat until his new judicial position is official.

Reached by telephone at his home in El Dorado, Harris wouldn't comment on the unusual delay between the time of his confirmation and the time he can officially don his judicial robes.

His colleagues advanced some of their own theories.

Most of them said the political situation in Arkansas was at the root of the delay. State law provides for runoff elections between the two top candidates when no one receives a majority of votes in a primary election. But it doesn't provide for a runoff in a special election to fill a vacancy.

In a special election, the top man would win even though he did not receive a majority of the votes.

15 Possibilities

"About 15 people already have indicated that they would like to run," an Arkansas political expert said. "We don't know who would win in a race like that. A Republican, or a Negro, could come out on top if the Democrats split their majority of votes among a dozen or more candidates."

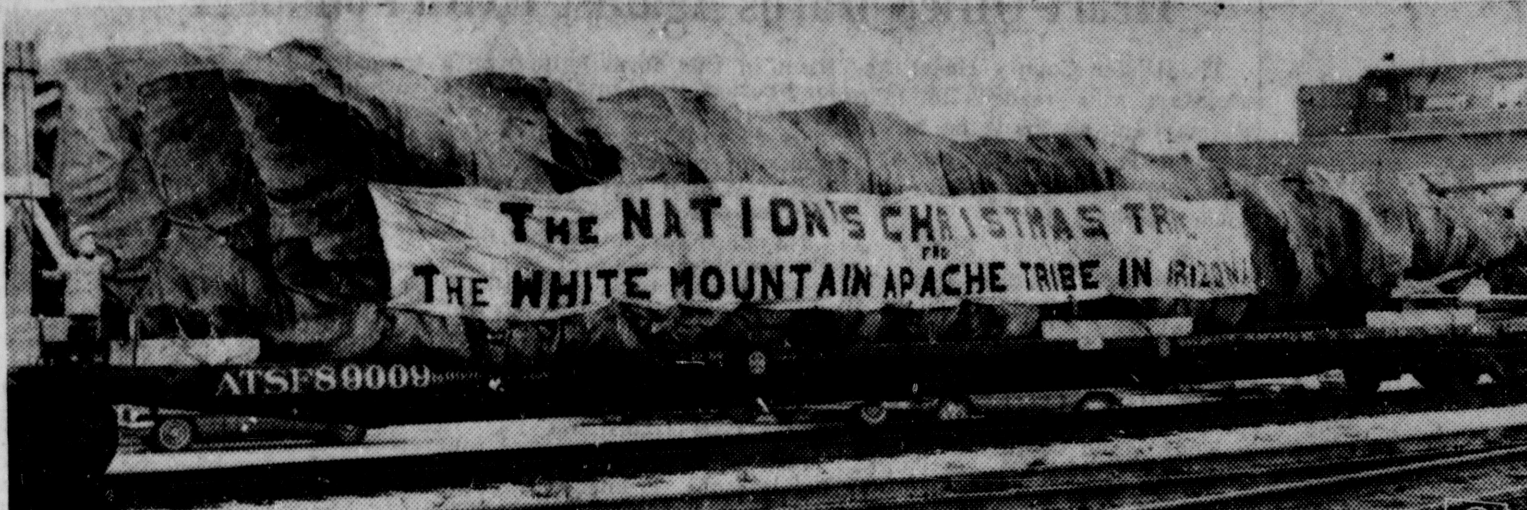

For that reason, he explained, Gov. Orval E. Faubus might not call a special election to name a successor to Harris but would leave the seat vacant until it is filled in the regular election next November.

Such a course would leave the people of the 4th Congressional District without representation in the House after Harris resigned. To avoid that situation, Harris' Judicial Commission might be held up until some of the major bills have been acted on by the House next year.

Another explanation for the delay was that the President wants Harris — who will be 62 next Monday — to steer several more bills through the House before bowing out.

Harris is chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which this year handled some major bills in the "Great Society" program. Still before the committee is the President's transportation bill.

Sugar cane grew in Hawaii long before the arrival of the white man.

YULE GIANT—This year's "national" Christmas tree is an 80-foot blue spruce from the Fort Apache Reservation near White River, Ariz. It took a long, long flatcar to carry the giant tree on the long journey to Washington to be set up on the White House lawn. During a stop in Chicago, 3-year-old Brian Lynch, extreme left, stood on the flatcar to put the whole thing in scale.

Glasco Fire Company Schedules Yule Party

A merry afternoon planned by the Glasco Fire Department this Sunday, Dec. 19, at the fire house. Between 2-4 p. m. the fire department is holding its annual Christmas party to which all adults and children from the district are invited.

Santa Claus will be on hand to greet the youngsters, and there will be refreshments for adults and children attending.

Shop Location

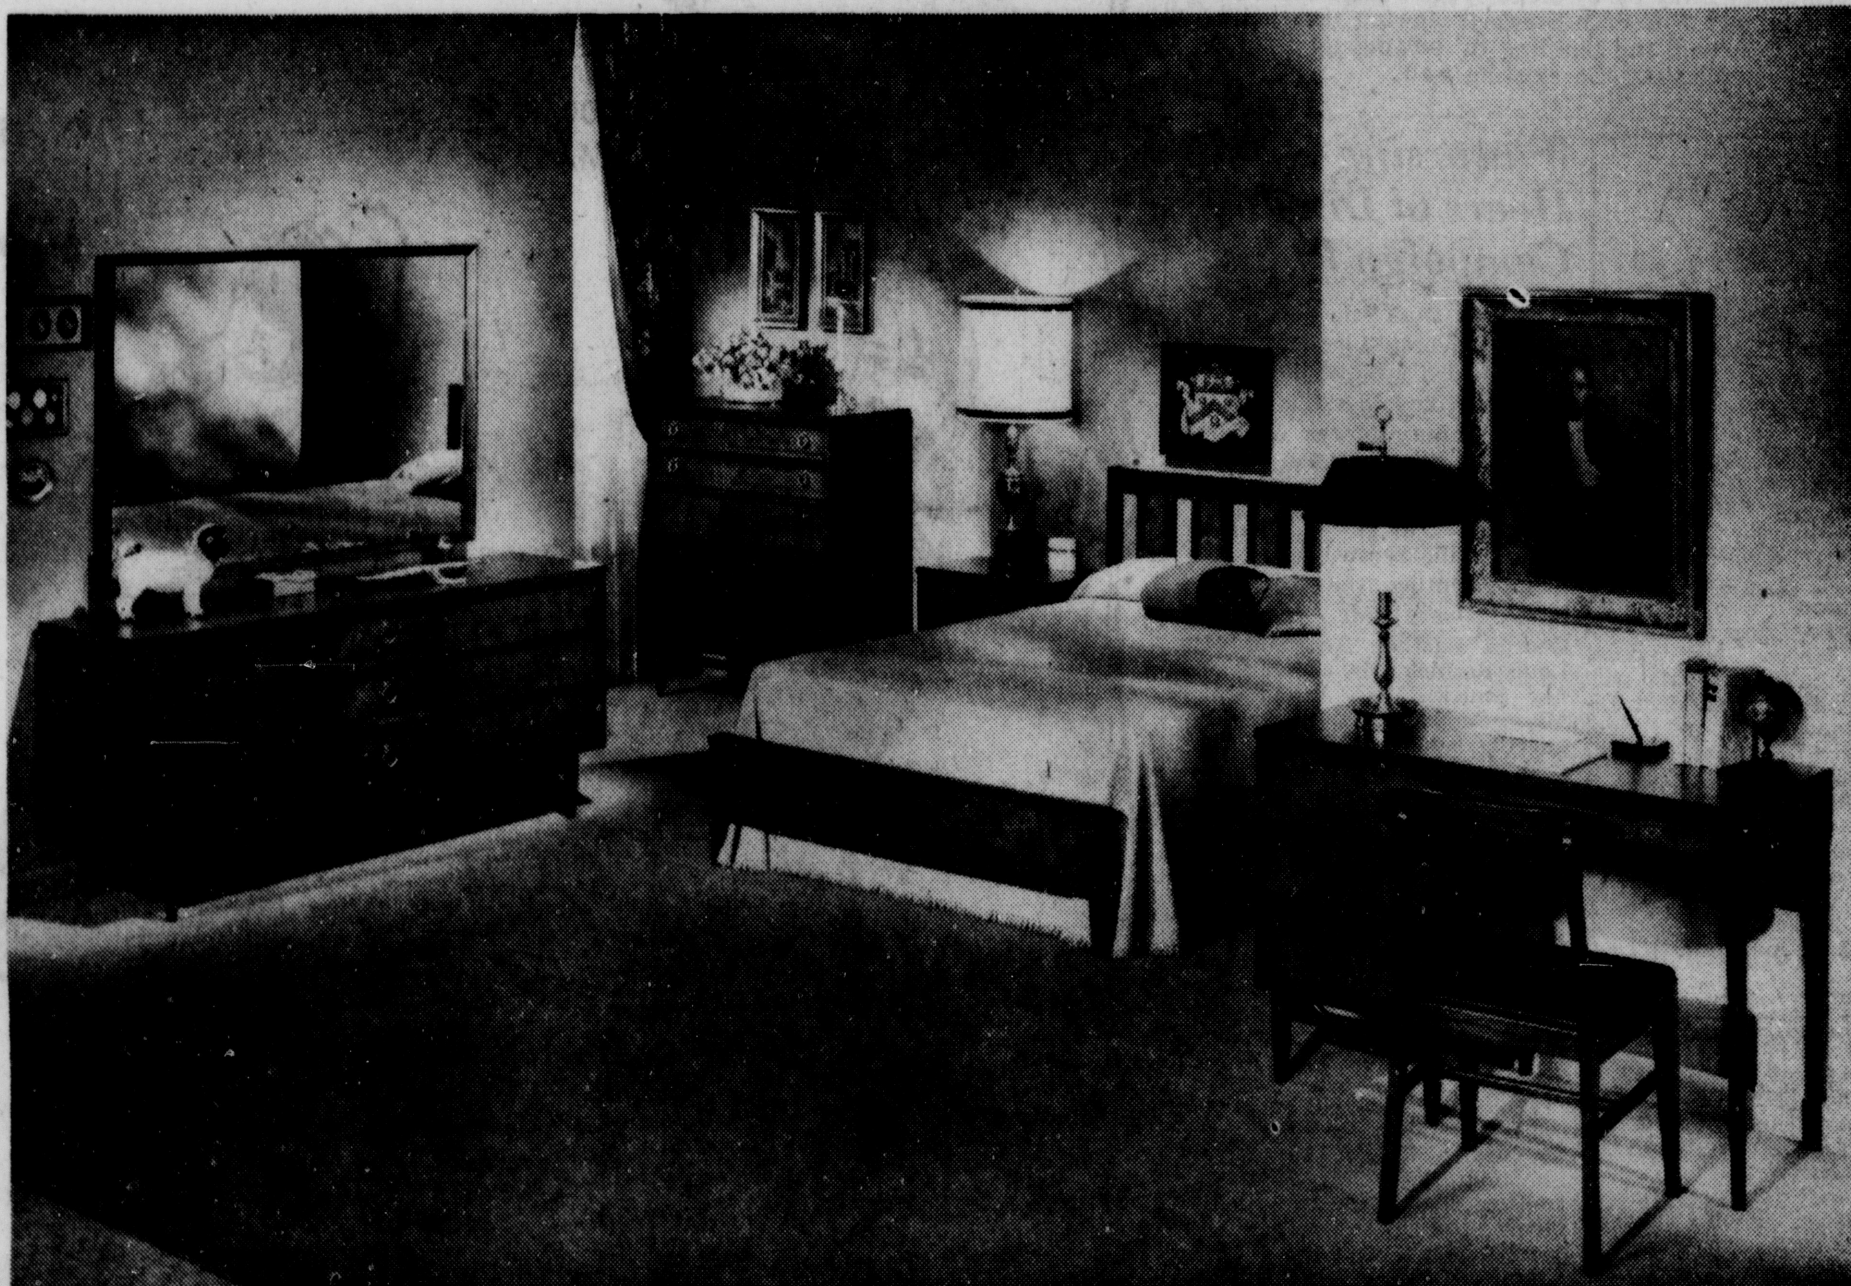

The Ellen Shop at its new location 366 Broadway is open every night to 9 until Christmas. In the advertisement appearing in Wednesday's Freeman the address was omitted.

Promotes Family Welfare

Explanation Is Given OnHomemakerService

The need for a Homemaker Service in Ulster County has been considered by the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies, and other groups interested in promoting family welfare in Ulster County. As a contribution towards the understanding of such a program, the following article is submitted by the Executive Secretary of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, Diana Geiger.

Fills Community Needs

The use of visiting homemakers as a means of reaching out to multiproblem families has been a recently developed project of the Friends Center in Trenton, N. J. The Center is operated by the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers). In the two years of its existence the Visiting Homemaker Service of Greater Trenton has filled a community need and has attracted wide and favorable notice.

In November of 1963 the Friends Center received a grant from the Zonta Club of Trenton and the New Jersey Department of Health which made possible the start of this homemaker program. In previous years other organizations had tried sponsoring such a service, but had been unable to succeed. However, after careful study, the board of the Friends Center decided that this particular program was sufficiently relevant to the Center's other activities to give it a good chance of success.

A full-time director of the new service was employed and, with the aid of Rutgers University, 13 mature women were especially trained as visiting homemakers. The service provides skilled help to persons who are temporarily prevented by illness or other causes from performing normal homemaking duties. Clients pay a small hourly fee which does not cover the total cost of the service.

Contracts have been made with the Bureau of Children's Services and other welfare agencies to purchase this service for some of the families receiving aid who could profit from the program. By carefully matching each client's needs with the temperament and skill of the homemaker, the director has seen an astounding growth in the types of services the homemakers could provide and the monthly number of hours served.

The initial program was expanded in scope early in 1965 when the New Jersey Department of Health contracted with Friends Center to provide an extension homemaker service for six months to clients in the South Trenton area who were in need of such help. More women were trained, with special emphasis on somewhat different needs. Many of these women are indigenous; several have been welfare cases themselves. The six-month demonstration was so successful that a new contract has been signed for another six-month period.

The homemaker goes uninvited and uninvited to the living quarters of a family which has been described as hard to reach. After establishing a friendly relationship, she often is able to act as a monthly counselor, giving advice and concrete help in housekeeping, budgeting, meal planning, child care, and other aspects of family hygiene and economy. She gains a picture of the family's total life and can bring to the Center's attention its need for specific services. She also often helps the family to make useful contact with other specialized social agencies; when desirable, she accompanies her clients on such visits. Through their work the homemakers have been able to offset the tragic social isolation of most of their clients and have succeeded in broadening their social and community activity through group meetings at the Center.

Meets Homemaker Weekly

A psychiatric social worker on the Center's staff meets with the homemakers weekly and helps them to resolve especially tough problems. As a result, some clients have found themselves able to find jobs and to work for the first time in years, thus getting themselves off the welfare rolls. A continuing dilemma is that of finding ways (short of removing the children from the home) to help families with small children who are suffering gravely from the vast disorganization of their family life. One mother has been helped to improve her own functioning so much that her children have been returned to her from foster care.

The extension program has become very well known in the neighborhood where it operates, and many new cases have been referred by neighbors. Cases also have come through Urban Renewal, the Child Study Department, the public schools, the Bureau of Children's Services, and Aid to Dependent Children.

During the first six-month period the total case load was 88

Hanukkah Festival Begins Saturday; Story Is Given

The Festival of Lights, called Hanukkah, in Hebrew, will be observed by Jewish people over the world from Saturday at sundown, Dec. 18 to Sunday at sundown, Dec. 26.

Hanukkah means dedication, and it is celebrated in order to recall the dedication of the Holy Temple to the service of God, following the victory of the Maccabean army of the Jewish people. The festival lasts for eight days because of a miracle which is said to have occurred during the rededication. When the eternal light was about to be lit, there was found only one cruse of undefiled oil for the needs of a solitary day, but it lasted for eight days.

When Antiochus Epiphanes ascended the throne of Syria in 175 B.C., of which Palestine was a tributary, he persecuted the Jews. He used his power to introduce Hellenism—Greek culture—among them, and he tried to force them to abandon their sacred religious practices and to compel them to worship Greek idols. He had altars erected in every city. Some Jews yielded to the pagan Greek practices through fear or conviction.

Many refused, however, to obey the King's commands and suffered death as martyrs for their faith. The flag of rebellion was raised by Mattathias, the High Priest, and his five sons, in the city of Modin. He unfurled the banner of revolt with the cry: "Whoever is on the side of God, follow me." He rallied the scattered and weakened forces in Israel. With the Jewish religion endangered, the meek, pious Jews were transformed into warriors and heroes.

After Mattathias' death, his sons continued the struggle under the leadership of Judah, called the Maccabee (literally, the Hammer). With a limited army of zealous followers Judah defeated the overwhelming Syrian legions. After a brilliant vic-

Fear Thousands Died In Pakistan Cyclone

DACCA, Pakistan (AP) — Thousands are feared to have died in a cyclone which battered Chittagong districts and the offshore islands of Kutubdia and Maheshkhali, a Pakistani observer reported today.

Thousands were believed dead in Maheshkhali Island alone.

The cyclone started in the Bay of Bengal and raged through Chittagong into upper Burma before tearing its way to the northeast.

A 12-foot tidal wave swept in its wake, plus heavy rains.

Newkirk Urges Weekend Sending Of Holiday Mail

It is urgent that any remaining Christmas mail be sent out over the weekend. Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk stressed today.

In the last three weeks, the nation has witnessed more people mailing gifts, cards and letters than ever before.

The postmaster said that across the nation ever piece of Christmas mail that can possibly be delivered will reach its destination on time. However, at this time of the year, the strain on transportation facilities and the unpredictability of weather can mean unexpected delays.

Newkirk suggested that mailers consider the use of air mail and special delivery, especially for out of town mail.

He noted that holiday schedules will be in effect on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 25 and 26. Although Christmas falls on Saturday and many business firms will be letting their employees off Friday, a sufficient number of postal workers will remain on duty to see that all Christmas mail entering post offices in time for delivery will reach its destination. Only Special Delivery and perishable mail will be delivered Christmas Day.

The Kingston postmaster thanked all his customers for their excellent cooperation so far.

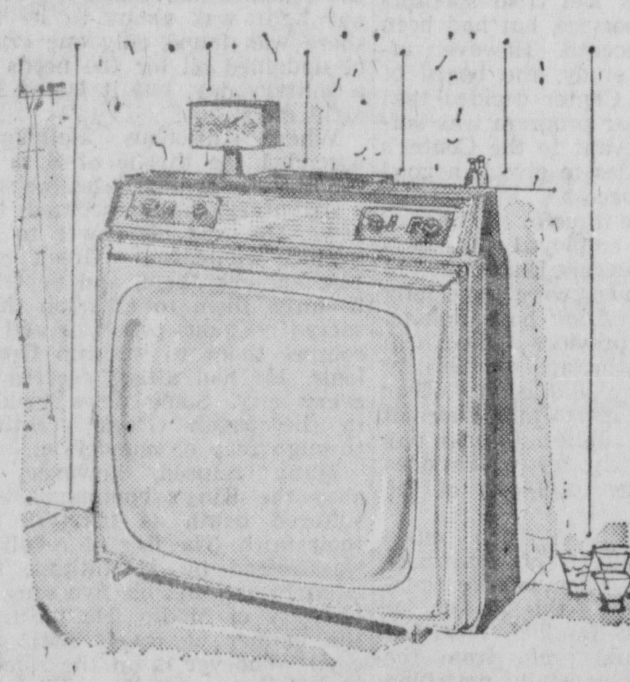

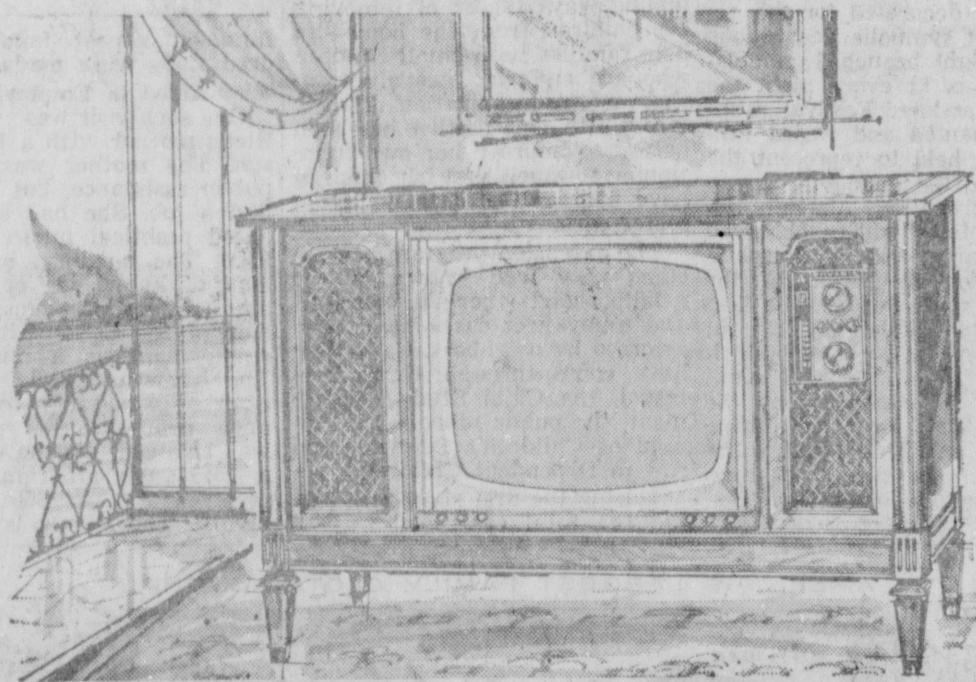

"We noted that the use of ZIP Code has increased significantly over last year and that most people mailed early. The local peak day was Dec. 16. However, there still is an extremely heavy volume of mail to be delivered," he added.

LAMBERT SCHMIDT
Named Resnick's
Special Aide for 28th Dist. Office

Improved service to the 28th Congressional District is the goal of two moves announced today by the office of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Elmville). Mr. Resnick is in Japan en-route to Viet Nam.

Before his departure Congressman Resnick appointed Lambert Schmidt, well known civic leader of Leeds, Greene County, as his special assistant in Greene and Schoharie Counties. Schmidt will also manage the Kingston District Office, 2 Pearl Street.

In a second move, Resnick's office revealed that a direct line has been installed between his Kingston and Poughkeepsie offices. The Kingston office is open to the public three days each week, Tuesday through Thursday, 10-4 p. m. Persons dialing the Kingston office number will automatically reach the Poughkeepsie office.

Schmidt was educated in schools in New Jersey and Brooklyn. He joined the Elram Lamp Works as a salesman in 1932, leaving as president in 1945 to establish his own business. He moved to the Cauter-Skill Road farm, Leeds, in 1955, where he designs and refurbishes incandescent lamps.

He is married to the former Miss Minna Teuteberg of Baltimore, Md. They have three sons, Lambert III, Harry and Wilbert, and seven grandchildren. He has been active in community affairs, serving as chairman of the Greene County Heart Fund; chairman of the local chapter of the American Red Cross; president of the Greene County Chapter of the American Cancer Society; and Fund Chairman for the Town of Catskill Girl Scouts.

Forces Patrolman Off Road, Faces 4 Charges

A driver said to have forced a local patrolman off course as he was driving home from police headquarters late Thursday night, was booked on four charges.

Louis Brodecki, 55, of RD 1, Route 9W, Kingston, was charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving and for two traffic violations.

Officer Ira Hadel said he had been forced off course on Broadway at West O'Reilly Street. Hadel went in pursuit of the car trailing it to Bond Street, which extends off West Chester Street and is dead end.

Hadel said the Brodecki car had struck a fence before it stopped, and after it stopped, he reached through the window on the driver's side and grabbed the ignition key.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman today adjourned hearing until Saturday to permit the defendant time to obtain counsel.

Supervisors Ask

the amount to be raised by local tax levy will be $4,745,296.48.

Among the additions to the budget was a $5,000 item for a special clerk of the courts, who will be engaged on a part-time basis when needed by reason of extra work when three courts are in session at one time.

Another change in the tentative budget was a $680 increase for clerical work, addition of $2,230 for the Soil and Water Conservation Commission. An addition of $405 to the Extension Service. An item of $15,000 for the Ulster County Community Action Commission operations and an increase in Laboratory funds by $5,940.

$5,940 Deleted
An item of $5,940 was deleted from the Election Board budget. This item had been placed in the budget in anticipation of a permanent personal registration program but will not be required. The Contingency Fund, General, increased by $188,000.

In connection with the $15,000 added to the tentative budget for use by Ulster County Community Action Committee, Supervisor George Barthel, (D), Wawarsing, a member of the committee, said that the $15,000 for the total yearly expenses of the commission would be taken exclusively for payment of a director's salary. He pointed out other office expenses would be met by the $15,000 appropriation.

After a caucus which lasted from 9:01 to 10:47 p. m. First Ward Supervisor Rapp announced some of the time had been spent in discussion of appropriations for certain agencies. Rapp said that Gateway Industries Inc., the Children's Home and Aid to Retarded Children would have their needs taken care of through the Mental Health Department and that no request for funds had been received by the committee. Rapp said due consideration would be given to these agencies as soon as possible. Minority Leader Quimby (D) concurred and said the matter of appropriations would be worked out.

$85,000 Would Return
Committing on the increase of salaries to county employees, Supervisor Rapp noted that of the approximately $180,000 cost, the county would be reimbursed in the amount of approximately $85,000. Rapp said there were 467 county employees who would benefit from the $400 increase, which is in addition to the annual increment schedule, and that 433 of the people to benefit from the pay raise were earning less than $7,000 a year, that 30 get more than $7,000 a year and only 10 persons get more than $10,000 a year and would not receive an increase. Rapp said he hoped the Salary Study Committee would come up with a salary revision recommendation program during the coming year.

Authorized Payment
The board authorized payment of $68,800.38 to James Berardi Inc., on completion of work on the new Fish Creek Bridge in Town of Saugerties.

A communication was received from Mrs. Paul Solon of New York City asking that the board take action to have the state give consent for private funds to be used for preservation of Perrine's Bridge at Rifton. This historic covered bridge, the subject of much controversy over a period of years, she said was in such condition it might fall into the Walkkill Creek and be lost as a historical relic. The matter was referred to the Budget Committee and the county attorney to study the proposal that the structure be released from state ownership so restoration work could proceed.

Authorize Interviews
A resolution by Supervisors Clarence Raichle, Douglas Dye, Roger Mabie, George Majestic and Charles E. Penny authorized the Planning Board to arrange for interviews of the various firms to form an idea of their capability to prepare a real property map and inventory record for the county. The committee will include the chairman of the board of supervisors, a member of the Industrial Development Committee of the board, chairman of the Master Plan Committee of Ulster County Planning Board, director of the Ulster County Planning Board, a member of the Tax Study Base Committee of the board and the president of the Assessors Association. The resolution, which was unanimously adopted, authorizes preparation of specifications and to ask for proposals from the firms interviewed.

The board adjourned subject to call of the chair.

No Reason to Fear
BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says New York State has little to fear from extremist efforts to influence public education as long as "the public is aware and interested in its schools."

The forum was a meeting in suburban Endwell at which Rockefeller sought the views of educators. The visit by the governor to this area was one of a series around the state to collect public opinion in preparation for his annual message to the legislature.

Dear Abby . . .
Too Much Cleanliness
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a cousin whose favorite topic of conversation is how "clean" she is. I have always assumed that everyone is reasonably "clean"—unless there is evidence to the contrary and, frankly I never thought much about it. But this woman tells everyone she meets that she bathes twice a day, changes her bed linen twice a week, and she goes into boring detail about how she changes the shelf paper in her pantry every month and scrubs the walls and floors of her basement, etc. Is there something wrong with her? Or is it me?

CLEAN'S COUSIN
DEAR COUSIN: Better that your cousin plug cleanliness than peddle dirt. I'm for cleanliness, too, but when someone wears it like a crown, I wonder where the dirt is hidden.

DEAR ABBY: There are times when I get a little excited or nervous and talk louder than I should. But does this give my husband the right to scold me about it at the dinner table in front of guests? To top it off he said, "This isn't the first time I've called your attention to it, and I don't want to have to tell you again!"

Now, Abby, I am not a four-year-old, and I don't care to be embarrassed that way before guests. He is a man of means and he is generous, but he did not exactly rescue me from the poor farm. I am 65 and he is 72 and we have been married less than a year. He is my second husband (I was a widow) and I am his seventh wife. He was divorced by all of them and now I am beginning to see why. Am I making too much of this incident? Or should I leave him while I'm still young enough to find someone else?

THE CAPTAIN'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Judging from his record, your chances for reforming him are slim. Either learn to ignore such unkind remarks, or invite him to try for eight.

Scranton 'Would' Run

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania was talking to a group of high school students at the Governor's Conference on Traffic Safety Thursday when this question came up: "Are you going to run for president again?"

Scranton smiled and replied: "If it would help traffic safety, I'd run for president." After losing the 1964 Republican presidential nomination to Barry Goldwater, Scranton had said he would not try for that office again.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 23 years old and has been married twice. Her first marriage was to a good boy, but she cared nothing for him and they were soon divorced. Her second marriage was to an older man she'd known only six weeks. He was no good at all. In fact he wasn't even free to marry anyone. That lasted two months. Our daughter is living at home again. She works, but she pays no room or board. Every dime she makes goes for clothes and her car payments. She has started dating again and we feel that so long as she is living under our roof we should have something to say about the hours she keeps and the way she lives. She resists this. She says she is no longer a "child," and she should have the privilege to come and go as she pleases with whomever she chooses. I would like your opinion.

TROUBLED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: As long as children (regardless of age) live at home, their parents should have something to say about the hours they keep and the way they live. If your daughter wants the privilege of coming and going as she pleases, with whomever she chooses, let her move out, support herself and be entirely on her own.

DEAR ABBY: You say that most men buy their wives gifts of wearing apparel because they "love" them? Ha! Ninety-nine out of a hundred men wouldn't even be in the store if they weren't buying something for their girl friends. And just to ease their guilty consciences, they get something for the wife, too.

For Wilm to Leave Conservation Job

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The way was clear today for Harold G. Wilm to leave his post as state conservation commissioner Feb. 1 to return to work in water-resources planning.

Gov. Rockefeller said Thursday he had accepted Wilm's resignation with great regret "only because I am convinced that you can make a major contribution in this new post."

Wilm will become head of the Institute of Water Resources at the State College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

Wilm referred in a letter to Rockefeller Wednesday to "the skyrocketing importance of water-resource problems."

He told the governor that research and planning on water resources were his major field and "during the past year or more, even in my present job, I have been drawn increasingly into activity in this field."

The governor did not announce immediately a successor to Wilm, who has been conservation commissioner since Rockefeller became governor in 1959.

Wilm, 58, is a graduate of Colorado College and holds degrees of master of forestry and doctor of philosophy from Cornell University.

Electrician Killed

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Alfred H. Pearce, 47, of Sanborn, an electrician at the Hooker Chemical Co. plant in Niagara Falls, was killed Thursday in an accident at the firm's boilerhouse, a company spokesman says.

However, the spokesman said an investigation would be necessary to determine the cause of the worker's death.

Ex-AEC Agent Is Arrested in Embezzling Case

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The FBI has arrested a former business agent for an atomic-energy project at the University of Rochester on charges of embezzling $17,000 from the federal government.

Charles S. Thompson, 44, of Rochester, was charged Thursday with falsifying petty-cash vouchers and embezzling Atomic Energy Commission funds.

He was released in $2,500 bail after an appearance before U.S. Commissioner Robert Miller and was scheduled to reappear Dec. 23.

Victor Turyn, FBI special agent-in-charge at Buffalo, said the alleged embezzlement covered a period from July 1961 until last month, when Thompson left the job.

Tanker Delays Work on Canal

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (AP)—Workers waited today for a small tanker to clear the Welland Canal before beginning an $18 million project to modernize the 27-mile link between Lakes Erie and Ontario.

The fuel tanker, unloading oil at a dock Thursday, was bound for Lake Erie with the distinction of being the last ship to pass through the canal this shipping season.

Meanwhile, the inland St. Lawrence Seaway fleet of more than 200 Canadian vessels was moving to winter berths through-out the system.

About 20 vessels will winter in Port Colborne, at the southern end of the canal.

St. Lawrence River locks of the seaway closed officially Dec. 3 but have been kept open on a day-to-day basis.

Test of 25 Shows Hazards

State Presses Warning Against 'Ice Balls'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Armed with the findings of laboratory tests the State Health Department is pressing its earlier warning against buying or using plastic-covered "ice balls" made in Hong Kong.

Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner, said Thursday that tests of 25 balls showed that "a potential health hazard exists."

Conflicting Report

Ingraham hastened to add that, while examinations showed that the water inside the balls was impure, "no disease-carrying bacteria were found."

That report conflicted with one by the Utica city health commissioner, who said earlier Thursday that his tests showed most of the plastic novelties contained two strains of bacteria that could produce dysentery.

Meanwhile, in the furor over the balls—designed to be frozen and used in place of ice cubes—there were these other developments:

—The federal Food and Drug Administration said that agency's analyses of the water in the ice-balls imported from Hong Kong had shown no significant amounts of disease-causing organisms.

—The New York City Department of Health clamped a complete ban on the sale of the ice-balls, saying its tests showed the water to be heavily contaminated.

In issuing his report, Ingraham said his department would continue to analyze the ice-balls, as well as related items, such as water-filled plastic elephants and teething rings.

What concerns its scientists, the department said, is the possibility that water could seep from the plastic casing and be consumed by the user.

No Report of Illness

The commissioner emphasized, however, that his department, like the Food and Drug Administration and the Public Health Service, had received no reports of illness caused by the novelties.

The reason for the commissioner's renewed warning against use of the balls, another department official said, was that tests disclosed that the water did contain certain organisms that should not be present in drinking water.

In Utica, Dr. Joseph P. Cocco, city health commissioner, said water in 60 per cent of the balls

Expect 560-660 Yule Road Toll

CHICAGO (AP)—Between 560 and 660 persons may die in traffic accidents during the nation's three-day Christmas weekend, according to the National Safety Council.

The council said Thursday that American motorists would drive an estimated 11.3 billion miles during the period, from 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday, Dec. 23, to midnight Sunday, Dec. 26. On an average, non-holiday weekend motorists travel some 8.9 billion miles.

Records indicate Christmas is the most dangerous holiday for motorists, council President Howard Pyle said.

Expect Christmas Lull

WASHINGTON (AP)—Johnson administration sources said today there will be a lull of some kind Christmas Eve in the Viet Nam war if the Communist Viet Cong permit it.

Officials are skeptical about how meaningful the pause would be. But there is no intention here to reject out of hand any peace gesture from Communist North Viet Nam.

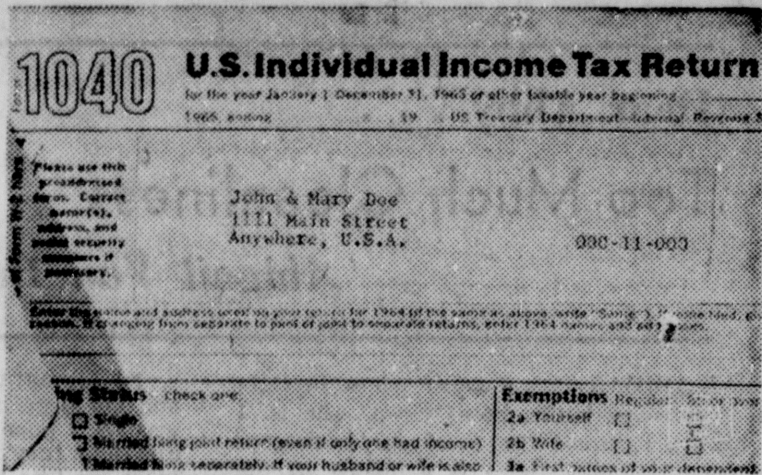

1-Man, 1-Duck

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren, who wrote the "one-man one-vote" decision, is wondering if it might not also apply to ducks.

In a day of hunting in the Sacramento Valley Thursday, he fired only once and bagged only one duck.

"I guess I've joined the one-man one-duck club," he said.

tested locally carried staphylococcus and E-coli bacteria, both of which could cause dysentery. Cocco said he was weighing the possibility of banning sale of the balls in Utica.

EASY PAYMENT—To make things easier for the taxpayers, at least as far as mailing returns is concerned, the Internal Revenue Service is expanding use of a "piggy-back" mailing and identification label. The pre-printed, pressure-sensitive label saves the taxpayer the effort of writing down name, address and social security number. Affixed to forms 1040 and 1120, the labels may be left on if these forms are filled out and mailed or removed and placed on another form he or a tax consultant may use. Tried out last year in the southeast, use of the labels will be extended this year to the mid-Atlantic states.

Outlines Favorite Sayings During Christmas Season

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—It wouldn't be Christmas unless someone said:
"If she doesn't like it, she can always bring it back anytime before the first of the year."

Better Behave
"You'd better start behaving this very minute—or there'll be no Santa Claus coming down the chimney for you."
"I don't care what kind of toy it is—just so it doesn't make a noise."
"I hate Christmas—it always makes me sad."
"Who put the raisins in the eggnog?"

"I hate to buy him a present until I am sure he is going to give me one."

Same Old Story
"Every Christmas Eve it's the same thing, year after year. You come reeling home from your office party at midnight reeking of liquor and with lipstick marks all over both cheeks."

"I wouldn't mind Christmas so much if someone would just invent a self-carving turkey."

"What color necktie would you suggest for my husband? He's short, fat, middle-aged and has a mole on his forehead."
"Why not get her perfume?"

No woman ever has enough perfume."

"It really doesn't make any difference what I get her anyway—she always exchanges it."

Too Many Santas
"But Mama, I saw Santa Claus at the other department store. How could he be at this store, too? Did he run ahead of us?"

"Well, they say Christmas comes but once a year—and sometimes I think that's twice too often."

"Will you please quit humming 'Jingle Bells'? You're driving me out of my mind!"

"It doesn't have to be too expensive. After all, it's the spirit behind it that counts."

Double Liz Size

"Yeah, it's for my wife. What size is she? Gee, I never asked her. But if you know what size Elizabeth Taylor is, just double it. That should fit her okay."

"I sweated and strained over a hot stove for half the day making this oyster dressing—and now you tell me you don't want any."

"I hate to take down the tree. The room looks so empty without it. I do believe it's the prettiest tree we ever had!"

Hoover Reports On Europe Tour For Kiwanis Club

Emphasizing the idea that "they very sincerely want peace," Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, Superintendent of Kingston Schools Consolidated, reported to the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday on his recent tour of five European countries including Russia and other Iron Curtain countries.

Hoover said as his reasons for the people of Russia wanting peace, the idea that they had undergone much suffering in past years but are currently more prosperous and therefore are less inclined to disturb the current status.

Living Standards Low
He indicated that while the people of Russia are more prosperous now, their standard of living is still far below the American practices.

In the company of 130 other educators, Superintendent Hoover toured the European countries for the purpose of observing educational facilities and methods. A total of 22 days were spent in the survey, and Hoover was high in his praise of the schools and educational facilities of Switzerland, the first point of call on the tour.

A brief description of the educational buildings in Switzerland and the abilities of the teachers gave the impression of an "excellent system," according to the speaker. He did point out that the teachers in the Alpine country were elected to their position, and every six years they were up for re-election. Their methods were termed "conservative and traditional," by Hoover who further indicated that the Swiss people themselves were "very individualistic and democratic."

Schools Poorly Constructed
Transferring his remarks to the Iron Curtain countries, Hoover opined that the "schools were very poorly constructed, not well equipped, and appeared to have little maintenance." In comparison to these deficiencies, the local superintendent indicated that the quality of the teaching in these schools was fairly good. He also said that in Russia there is emphasis upon technical work in the schools and the study of a trade.

The groups into which school children are placed in Russia was mentioned, particularly the Pioneer group where "extras are learned," such as music, the arts, and trades. The influence upon the children in this Pioneer group was portrayed as extremely great.

In conclusion, Hoover mentioned that in his opinion the Communist leaders "had not changed faces," but he emphasized that the Russian people

Skunk, Patrolman Are Both Grateful

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—The skunk apparently was grateful — and so was Patrolman Orlando Gulla.

When Madison Avenue residents called police to report a skunk was running around in circles with its head in a tin can, Gulla was dispatched to handle the dangerous assignment.

With the help of a passing high school student, Gulla gingerly removed the can. The skunk scampered away — without a parting salute. "They were living better and were happy, even though their standards were below those that are current in this country."

EMPTY GRAVES—The scene of a century-old bloody battle is marked by 20 white tombstones over empty graves in a lonely cemetery near Casper, Wyo. The memorial marks the spot where Indians wiped out an Army wagon train July 26, 1865. The 20 dead, all from the 11th Kansas Cavalry, are believed buried in a common grave in the area, but it has never been located. American Legionnaires from Casper have taken on the task of maintaining the cemetery and decorating the markers with flags on Memorial Day and the Fourth of July.

Symposium Scheduled On Computers Jan. 14

A community symposium to aid in determining authorship of disputed work. Some research has also been done on the "writing" of "computer poetry" and "computer music" from information fed into the machines by programmers working with authors and composers. In its present stages, the experiments have produced some interesting samples but nothing that most authorities accept as "creative" by present normal standards.

What the possibilities are for present research and future "creativity," as machines become more "sophisticated," will be discussed by a panel composed of Dr. Louis T. Milic, Department of English, Columbia University, Mr. Edmund A. Bowles, Manager of I.B.M.'s Professional Activities in Corporate Education, and Dr. Joseph Stokes, Chairman of the Division of Literature and Philosophy at New Paltz.

A question and answer period will follow the panel remarks.

POLITENESS TO A DEPARTING GUEST

Q: When leaving someone's house or apartment, who is supposed to open the door—the departing guest or the hostess? I have been told that it is rude for the hostess to open the door as it implies she is trying to speed the guest's departure. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: It would not be very polite to let a departing guest, especially if a woman, open the often heavy entrance door herself, and there is certainly no reason why this gesture should be taken as an indication that the hostess is trying to speed a guest's departure.

Material for the Bridesmaids' Dresses

Q: I have been asked to be a bridesmaid at a friend's wedding. There will be three other bridesmaids besides myself and a maid of honor. The bride's aunt, who is an excellent seamstress, is going to make our dresses. The bride has selected the pattern and also the material for the dresses. I would like to know who is supposed to pay for the material—the bride or her attendants?

A: The attendants should pay for the material just as they would ordinarily pay the whole cost of the dresses if they were bought in a store.

Returning A Fraternity Pin

Q: Up until a few weeks ago I had been seeing a young man who is a senior in college. During our courtship he gave me his fraternity pin. I would like to know if I may keep this pin or must it be returned to him?

A: Very definitely you should return it to him.

SOUP FOR GOOD FELLOWSHIP—An age old custom is an ever popular one—starting dinner with a bowl of warm soup. The feeling of exhaustion disappears and the irritabilities of the day gradually give way to good fellowship. Your guests' appetites are awakened to the delicious meal ahead. An exotic and elegant starter is this Grapes in Shrimp Soup Amandine—easy to prepare because it's made with canned condensed soup.

Hearty Prelude for Holiday Fare

When an Archbishop of the Middle Ages was accused by abstinent Puritans of over indulgence, the bill of complaint cited the cleric's gourmand custom of starting dinner with six soups all on the table at the same time!

Down through the ages, it has been the custom for a good meal to begin with soup—one kind that is—to assuage hunger and aid digestion. To quote Sir Henry Thompson, F.R.C.S., M.B., eminent physician of the nineteenth century "In two or three minutes, after taking a plate of warm soup, the feeling of exhaustion disappears and irritability gives way to the gradually rising source of good fellowship." What advice for those seeking popularity at the dinner table!

The homemaker and hostess can gain admiration and praise by simply following suit and remembering the benefits of a first course of soup. It's so economical and easy to fix these days with a wide range of canned condensed soup shelf-handy in most kitchens.

Meal-starter soups such as condensed consommé, tomato, chicken with rice, green pea, cream of asparagus and black bean can be prepared in a quick 4 minutes. The frozen condensed soups, such as cream of shrimp or oyster stew, take only about 10 minutes. Add a few touches of this and that, and you've made them your own specialty.

Chicken Asparagus Crunch Soup
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
1 soup can water
½ cup diced cooked chicken
Dash aromatic bitters
1-cup seasoned stuffing mix
Cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in soup, water, chicken and bitters. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with stuffing mix. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Grapes in Shrimp Soup Amandine
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
1 soup can water
½ teaspoon curry powder
¼ cup seedless grapes, quartered
Toasted slivered almonds
Combine soup, water and curry powder. Heat until soup is thawed; stir now and then. Add grapes. Garnish with almonds. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Automobile Heiress Weds Greek Shipping Magnate in Mexico

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Automobile heiress Charlotte McDowell Ford and Greek shipping magnate Stavros Spyros Niarchos arrived today to honeymoon at the same Alpine resort where her father honeymooned last February.

Miss Ford, 24-year-old elder daughter of Henry Ford II, and the 56-year-old Greek were married secretly in Juarez, Mexico, Thursday by a civil judge one day after Niarchos received a divorce from his second wife. Miss Ford is a Roman Catholic.

The couple came to Zurich in a chartered Boeing 707 jetliner and immediately took off in a private jet for Niarchos' chalet overlooking St. Moritz, the winter sports resort where her father honeymooned early this year with his second wife, Italian-born Maria Austin.

The marriage of Niarchos and Miss Ford was announced in New York by a spokesman for Ford and his divorced wife, Mrs. Anne McDowell Ford.

The wedding announcement said the couple would live in Europe. Niarchos, considered the largest independent shipowner in the world, has homes in Switzerland, France, England, Bermuda and Greece.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Cold Sardines, Warm Welcomes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sardines from the icy fjords of Norway adapt themselves happily to warm-welcome dishes for holiday visitors. One of our favorites:

Norway Cocktail Dip

1 can (3 1/2-ounces) Norway sardines

1/2 cup creamy cottage cheese

Juice of 1/2 lemon

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Dash cayenne pepper

2 teaspoons mayonnaise

Drain sardines. Mash sardines well. Mix thoroughly with cottage cheese, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, cayenne pepper and mayonnaise. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, sprinkle with paprika.

Here's another hospitality dish which can be prepared long in advance.

Cold Sardines Gourmet

2 cups diced potato salad

1 can (3 1/2-oz.) Norway sardines

2 hard-cooked eggs, cut in half lengthwise

4 whole canned red peppers (or pimento)

1 tablespoon chopped parsley

1 lemon, pared and sliced

2 tablespoons mayonnaise Parsley bouquets

Arrange the potato salad in a small oval dish. Open and drain the Norway sardines; place half the sardines (about 10) on top in a crisscross pattern. At each end at both sides of the dish place half a hard-cooked egg. Arrange the whole peppers in four small bouquets between each egg-half. Place slices of lemon in the center and flank with sardines. Chill and serve.

YW Board Members Plan Continuing Downtown Activities

Members of the YWCA board of directors have voted to continue its program of activities for girls residing in the downtown Kingston area. The action was taken at a recent board meeting during which it was revealed the new downtown activities are very well attended and solve a transportation problem for the majority of girls.

A new series of programs will be instituted in January for the downtown area with Dr. Kurken V. Kirk in charge.

Mrs. Roger Malloy, teenage program director, reported that YWCA club members will go caroling to several nursing homes prior to Christmas Day.

Bonus days will be held in January and February and discussions on wills and investments will be scheduled.

To help raise funds for the YW, the public is invited to purchase fruit cakes at the YW office. It was reported also that volunteers are needed for the newspaper project.

Reports were given also by Miss Mary Staples, chairman of the Festival of Christmas Ideas, and Mrs. John W. Hill, chairman of Take Note of Christmas program.

The death of a YWCA trustee George L. Chilson Sr. was noted with deep regret by the board.

It was reported that Mrs. Malloy and Mrs. Robert B. Murray attended a round table in New York City recently. Teenage problems and related subjects were discussed.

Devotions were led by Miss Kathryn L. Heavey.

Also attending were Mrs. Henry P. Elghemey, president; Miss Frances Maxwell, executive director and board members, the Mmes. Peter Corsones, Harold Davis, Samuel McCoubrey, Herbert Reuner, Andrew Sulko, James Taub William Wood and the Misses Harvey and Louise Luther.

The YWCA is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

College Firings Now 20

NEW YORK (AP) — The number of faculty members fired by St. John's University in the past two days has risen to more than 20, a faculty spokesman said today.

The dismissals by the nation's largest Roman Catholic university came after 10 months of feuding between faculty and administration over academic freedom.

Among those dismissed was Msgr. John Clancy, a former member of the Vatican Secretariat who was secretary to Pope Paul VI when the Pope was a cardinal.

Another was the Rev. Peter O'Reilly, head of the St. John's chapter of the AFL-CIO United Federation of College Teachers, which has often been the spokesman for faculty members demanding a greater voice in university administration.

Name Change Due For Ellenville Hospital Tuesday

Change of name for the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, is expected to be acted on Tuesday at a meeting of the membership slated at the main auditorium of the Maple Avenue School at 8 p. m.

Announcement after an October meeting of the hospital's Board of Directors that action was approved changing the name to 'The Ellenville Community Hospital, brought protests from three local veterans groups and the Veterans Council.

Veterans groups based their objection on the fact that the hospital was founded through the efforts of the local Legionnaires, that its name has served as a memorial to Ellenville veterans, and that organizations had not been given the opportunity to discuss the proposed change in name before the directors acted. Hospital officials contend that the name Veterans Memorial Hospital is confusing and often causes embarrassment to patients and the business office because the name mistakenly indicates the hospital is an institution for veterans.

Travia Is Unopposed For Assembly Speaker

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn was unopposed today for re-election to the post of Assembly speaker as Democrats continued their efforts to erase the memory of the bitter fight over leadership posts early this year.

Secretaries Plan Party At Hedges: December 20

UAR Is Fifth To Break Over Salisbury Stand

CAIRO (AP) — The United Arab Republic Thursday night became the fifth African nation to break diplomatic relations with Britain over Rhodesia.

Earlier Ghana, Tanzania, Guinea and Mali heeded the call by the Organization of African Unity for its 36 members to break with London unless the British overthrew Prime Minister Ian Smith's Rhodesian government by last Wednesday.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported that four more OAU members, Nigeria, Mauritania, Senegal and the Congo Republic — Brazzaville, were also breaking with Britain. Senegal denied it would do so now, and there was no confirmation on the others.

Rhodesia's white minority government declared independence from Britain on Nov. 11 after negotiations broke down over Britain's insistence that Rhodesia's four million Africans be guaranteed ultimate control of the government. There are 220,000 whites in Rhodesia.

True Story

The tale told in Longfellow's poem, "Evangeline," is based on a true story which traveled from Canada to New England by word of mouth. When it reached Longfellow he edited it in writing the poem.

Woman Is Cleared In Mate's Death, Facing Hearing

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A housewife remained in custody today although she had been cleared, by reason of temporary insanity, in the hammer-slaying of her 29-year-old husband.

The woman, Mrs. Arlene Pinkowski, faces a sanity hearing to determine whether she may be released immediately or must undergo treatment at a state mental institution. The hearing is a standard procedure.

An all-male jury, which deliberated nearly 10 hours over a two-day period, found Mrs. Pinkowski innocent Thursday night of a first-degree murder charge. "Oh, God," she cried, when the verdict was returned in Erie County Court.

"Oh, dad, I told the truth," she sobbed as her father, Walter Brezinski, of suburban Cheektowaga, rushed to her side.

Brezinski has been caring for his daughter's two young children since the slaying May 19 at the Pinkowski home in Cheektowaga.

Mrs. Pinkowski was arrested the day after the slaying and has been in custody since.

She was accused of using a hammer and a six-inch butcher knife to kill her husband, Ronald. Police said the slaying climaxed a series of arguments over the husband's attentions to another woman.

Probe Is Pledged

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Democratic head of a legislative committee promises a probe into a minister's charges that voters in the clergyman's district received $5 payments from members of the Albany Democratic organization.

Sen. Irwin Brownstein of Brooklyn made the pledge Thursday after hearing testimony from the Rev. James U. Smythe, pastor of the Mount Zion Baptist Church in a Negro section of Albany.

The Negro minister told a legislative hearing that the money was distributed after elections as "a sort of donation to the people from the victors."

Lodge 343 Plans Annual Meeting On Monday Night

The 11th annual meeting of Rondout Lodge, 343, F & AM, is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 20, at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, starting at 7:30 p. m.

A roast beef dinner will be served at 6:30 by the ladies of Kingston Chapter 155, Order of Eastern Star, prior to the planned business of electing and installing the officers of Rondout Lodge for the ensuing year.

Officer Since 1959

The annual meeting will mark the termination of Worshipful J. Wesley Drake's year as the master of Rondout Lodge. He has been an officer of the lodge since October 1959 when he was appointed marshal by Worshipful Robert B. Murray and has held all the successive offices, culminating in his election, investiture and installation as master Dec. 21, 1964.

Drake has served Rondout Lodge as chairman of the conducting committee from 1957 to 1961; chairman of the Masonic education committee from 1959 to 1964 and a member of the Greene-Ulster Master and Wardens Association. Previous to transferring membership to Rondout he served in 1947 as chaplain of Jerusalem Temple Lodge 721, F&AM, Cornwall.

Rondout Lodge has enjoyed a busy, profitable and fruitful year under the leadership of Drake. Sixteen new brothers were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason with two joining the lodge by affiliation. Many activities and a variety of programs of the past year included the kick-off meeting for 1965 when Most Eminent H. Randall Kreger addressed the lodge on Brotherhood Night; Frederick H. Stang, a local dignitary and Past Master of Wallkill Lodge spoke honoring the Past Masters of Rondout.

Also a DeMolay Degree dramatization was an impressive feature, Father and Child Night was enjoyed by children and parent alike; Rondout played an important role in the success of the annual Greene-Ulster Masonic convention; a reception for Fred L. Van Deusen, Grand Steward and secretary of the Lodge was a highlight meeting William G. Rose, chairman of the Benevolent Committee of Grand Lodge, addressed the gathering; a highly successful Ladies Night under the direction of Junior Warden James L. Radcliffe was the important feature during Spring.

In September the membership listened to Paul Janes, past master of Rondout give an informative talk on local Masonic history. October brought Howard J. Shoemaker, chairman of the Grand Lodge Brotherhood Fund, deliver an interesting talk to the Ole' Timers on "Ole' Timers Night." In November John A. Smith, district deputy Grand Master of the Greene-Ulster District, paid his interesting official visitation.

Grand Master Visits

The crowning event of the year was a visit to Rondout Lodge by the Most Worshipful Clarence J. Henry, Grand Master of Masons in the State of New York, on Nov. 6. He was honored with a banquet and dance where he delivered an enlightening and informative Masonic address to a large audience of local and surrounding area Masons.

Every meeting of the year has been well attended, particularly the Grand Master Clarence J. Henry's visitation; the reception of Fred L. Van Deusen as Grand Steward and "Ole' Timers Night" when awards for membership were presented to Walter T. Donaldson for 60 years and Edwin H. Hyde, George D. Long and Sylvanus B. Parsell for 50 years of service. There were nine meetings for conferring of degrees one of which was particularly devoted to the Fellowcraft Degree by Worshipful James E. Norton and his officers of 1955.

Outside Activity

Rondout Lodge was active within as well as outside the District—a trip was made to Adonai Lodge 718, F&AM, Highland, to confer both sections of the Fellowcraft Degree. They traveled to Widow's Son Lodge 335, F&AM at Livingston and were privileged to dramatize the second section of the Master Mason Degree. At the annual district convention Rondout Lodge had the honor to exemplify the first and lecture portion of the Master Mason Degree.

Several sister lodges visited Rondout. Adonai Lodge conferred the first and second sections of the Fellowcraft Degree and Shekomeko Lodge 458 F&AM's Craft Team from Pleasant Valley dramatized the second section of the Master Mason Degree on the last degree conferred of 1965.

Lead Donations

Rondout Lodge, under the leadership of Drake, led the Greene-Ulster District in total donations and contributions to the Masonic Brotherhood Fund for the second successive year.

Drake has been an energetic, active and competent Master who has revived several important aspects of ritual and protocol long unused in Rondout Lodge. He has attempted to stimulate new vigor and interest among Masons about Masonry and has devoted every effort toward revitalizing the interest of younger Masons to the importance of Masonic teachings. He will be presented with a Past Masters Certificate and a gift as a token of the esteem and appreciation of the Brothers of Rondout Lodge on his vacating the Oriental Chair for further duties to the Craft.

All members of Rondout Lodge are requested to attend the annual dinner and meeting in support of a most important election and installation.

READY FOR CHRISTMAS—Built on one of the holiest sites in Christian history, where the Archangel Gabriel announced to Mary the birth of Jesus, the new Basilica of the Annunciation, upper right, at Nazareth, Israel, receives its first worshipers for Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve, 1965. Begun five years ago, the Franciscan Order church is the fifth religious structure, dating back to 350 A.D., to stand on the site.

Why Chimes Rang Methodist Event Christmas Sunday

The traditional Christmas Eve candlelight service in song and story and a service for Student Recognition Day highlight next week's events at the Saugerties Methodist Church.

The candlelight service will be held Fri., Dec. 24 at 7:30 p. m. Special music for the event will be led by the pastor.

One service is planned at 11 a. m. on Sun., Dec. 26 for Student Recognition Day with college students participating, the pastor delivering a sermon and the Junior choir singing under the direction of Jane Tonnesen.

On Christmas Sunday, Dec. 19 morning worship services will be conducted at 8:45 and 11 a. m. Sermon topic is "The Divine Invasion." At the early service the Youth Choir will sing two Christmas anthems, "Sing O Heavens" and "Shepherds in the Hush of Night," under the direction of Robert Gilbert with accompaniment by Mildred Fellows. At the 11 a. m. service the Senior Choir plans two Christmas anthems under the direction of Lewis Gaylord with Jane Tonnesen at the organ.

Also on Dec. 19 at 9:45 a. m. during the Church School hour, a Christmas film strip will be presented. The major event of the day will be the Church School Christmas Program at 4:30 p. m. At this time, "Why the Chimes Rang," by Raymond Alden, is scheduled with Robert Waldele as organist. Nancy Bolinder as soloist, special music by the Youth Choir, and additional songs by the kindergarten and primary departments. Refreshments will be served by the adult class. Youth Fellowship members are asked to remember that there is no meeting on this night.

The group will meet instead at the church on Mon., Dec. 20 at 6:30 p. m. to go caroling to the sick and shut-in; returning to the church for refreshments. The Girl Scout Troop also plans a Christmas party in the chapel at 7 p. m. on Dec. 20.

Reformed Church Annual Christmas Program Sunday

"Christmas Joy" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Orville Jay Hine at the 9:45 a. m. and 11 a. m. services on Sunday at the Reformed Church of Saugerties. The sermon will be based on the words in the Gospel of St. Luke reading, "Fear not, for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people." The church has been beautifully decorated for the Christmas season, under the direction of Mrs. Charles P. Emerick.

The boys and girls of the Sunday church school will continue to bring their gifts of sweaters and toys to place under the tree in the church for the hospitals maintained by the Reformed Church in Muscat, Arabia. This Sunday, the 5th and 6th grade children will present their gifts at the 9:45 a. m. service; and 2nd, 3rd and 4th grade children will present their gifts at the 11 a. m. service. Shortly after Christmas the gifts will be sent to Arabia where they will be used for the patients in the hospitals.

Music at the early service will be by the Youth Choir under the direction of Donald Reinhard. The Junior Choir will also sing at the early service. Miss Isabel Tubbs, director has selected the anthems, "There's a Song in the Air." Music at the 11 a. m. service will be by the Adult Choir under the direction of Mr. Howard Houghtaling.

The Annual Christmas Program of the Sunday Church School will be held this coming Sunday evening at 7 p. m. in the Church Sanctuary under the direction of W. Eugene Hicken, superintendent and the various teachers of the school. An interesting program depicting the meaning of Christmas and concluding with the Nativity scene will be presented. After the program in the Sanctuary a film entitled, "Birth of a Saviour" will be shown in the Parish Hall. Refreshments will be served by the ladies of the Women's Guild for Christian Service under their President, Mrs. Robert Freiligh.

At the Christmas program, the children in the nursery, kindergarten and first grade will present their gifts for the hospital in Arabia.

Bloomington Area Due For Visit From Santa

Santa Claus is coming to the Bloomington area Saturday afternoon, and will be the guest of the Bloomington Fire Company, at its annual Christmas party to be held at the firehouse starting at 2 p. m.

A bus will run through the district starting at 1 p. m. tomorrow to pick up the children of the area and take them to the firehouse where Santa will distribute gifts to each child. A movie, Snow White, will be shown after which refreshments will be served.

Alan Tyler is chairman of the committee, assisted by Robert Hicks and Amedeo Contini.

Air Flight Anniversary

KILL DEVIL HILLS, N.C. (AP)—The world of aviation, thrilled by this week's space feats of Gemini 6 and 7 astronauts, looks back today to its beginning.

This is the 62nd anniversary of the Wright brothers' first flights on the North Carolina Outer Banks.

The Wright Memorial, a 60-foot pylon marking the scene of the initial efforts of the Dayton, Ohio, brothers is the scene of an annual memorial service and wreath placing.

Air National Guard fighter planes are to zoom over the area where on Dec. 17, 1903, Orville Wright made the first successful flight—120 feet in 12 seconds.

Women Pay $120 Fines in Theft Of Cigarettes

It cost four young women, two from Poughkeepsie and the others from Newburgh, $30 and a suspended jail sentence police reported Thursday night, after they went shopping at the Grand Union Store in Highland.

State Trooper Stanley Roberts reported petit larceny charges were filed against Joyce Taylor, 23, of 157 Main Street, and Annie Wright, same age, 126 Market Street, both Poughkeepsie, and Joyce Ann Johnson, 23, of 69 Farrington Street, and Carol Roundtree Holden, 20, of 107 Montgomery Street, both of Newburgh.

Troopers said the women had 24 cartons of cigarettes valued at about $72 in their possession when arrested.

The defendants were arrested on complaint of Donald Juhl, manager of the store, who took the four in custody as a citizen. Juhl turned the women over to Troopers G. W. Zappolo and Roberts, who arraigned them before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker, Town of Lloyd.

The four pleaded guilty and each paid a $30 fine. Judge Baker also meted out 30-day suspended jail sentences for each woman.

C97 Air Force Plane Breaks in Two Landing

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A huge C97 Air Force four-engine plane broke in two as it landed at Carswell Air Force Base this morning, injuring 15 of the 20 persons aboard.

Col. Jim Galley, director of base operations at Carswell, said the plane may have had gear trouble.

He said the plane cracked in half behind the cockpit area and one wing shattered. The injuries were described as minor.

The plane burned after the crash. The passengers and plane were attached to the Air Force Logistics Command at Carswell.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

From time to time I am asked about books on local history which would make good gifts. One book I have enjoyed over and over again is Teacup Tales, a fable of the Hudson Valley by Pauline Hommel of Saugerties. It is described thus by Carl Carmer, famous Hudson River and Catskill Mountain author of Octagon House, Irvington-on-Hudson. "Pauline Hommel has woven a colorful fabric out of the many skeins of narrative which make up the folk heritage of the old Hudson River town of Saugerties. Like all good local historians, she has patiently listened to old-timers, read old books, consulted old manuscripts." From this Miss Hommel has woven delightful tales about places and people we might know. She is a former school teacher. Her new book is "Class Dismissed" which I read some time ago. She can be reached I think at 16 Bennett Avenue, Saugerties, which is the address she gave me in 1962.

If you want local history on the Civil War, get Banners and Bugles by Will Plank of Marlboro. He is a newspaper man and a great deal of time and thought went into his large book of newspaper clippings and pictures of local participation in the Civil War. If you are from a family of old timers from around here, no doubt your family name will be there if they took part in the War of the States. One heading reads: "Attitude of Kingston Folks as War Began" or another title "Families of Servicemen in Poor House." This book will be read with great interest by folks today and for years to come. Although the D. & H. Canal is a thing of the past for Rondout, interest in Mrs. Dorothy Hurlbut Sanderson's book, The Delaware and Hudson Canalway, is very strong, and she takes you through the D. & H. Canal with pictures and information.

One of the handsomest books published lately is by Donald C. Ringwald called Hudson River Day Line. This is a beautiful book of many pictures of the famous boats, Day Liners and others, and the portraits and pictures of the men who were on the boats. It should be handled gently and with care, and given only to those who understand and care and appreciate a fine book. It has a hard cover, cloth finish and the dust cover has a beautiful Hudson River Day Line flag and illustration.

Mr. Ringwald writes that his problem was that he had a superabundance of interesting material, prints, manuscripts, pictures of the line from its formation in 1863 until the sale in 1949, was in the hands of one family, so the records and other material were intact. The New York Historical Society in New York City received a vast amount of Day Line material, including ledgers, letter books, scrapbooks, timetables, picture postcards and even bibles. Collectors have been so fascinated by anything on the Hudson and the Dayline that they have saved much material.

Mr. Ringwald also makes mention of using the vast collection of Captain William O. Benson of Sleightsburgh and Roger W. Mabie of Port Ewen and scrap books owned by Fred J. Johnston of Kingston. I could go on and on to the sources Mr. Ringwald used and people he contacted to compile this book. Just his work on the Mary Poyell alone and the pictures makes it a worthwhile gift for the coming season. It is published by Howell-North Books, 1050 Parker Street, Berkeley, Calif. I

Any adult who is willing to assist in the necessary housing and feeding requirements may contact Mark Brower, president of the youth group or Howard Halpern, chairman of the conclave housing committee.

Nashvillians Moved By Yule Spirit

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Christmas spirit has moved many Nashvillians to offer homes to the Albert T. Davis family, left without a place to live when fire destroyed their house Wednesday morning.

Only thing is, Davis says, he's taken a liking to the barn where he and the other five members of his family have been living since the fire. He says he thinks he'll stay there.

"I thank everyone for their offers of places to live," the 50-year-old salvage dealer says. "But I think this barn can be fixed up, and we'd rather stay around here, close to the school and the people we know."

Twenty-six kinds of orchids can be found in the Great Smokey Mountains, as well as more species of trees than in all know Tom Walsh of 17 Railroad Avenue had this book as he covers all local history books.

Captain Andrew Hickey's City of Kingston is another worthwhile book on local history, which can be had at usual book shops or counters.

What Makes Johnny Learn?— Mostly Human Contact

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Johnny, 6, sat on his teacher's lap in the center of a small classroom. After repeated coaxing, the child uttered the words "Mouth, mouth, Johnny's mouth."

The teacher didn't give Johnny a passing mark or a star for mastering a new word. He hugged him lovingly.

Johnny desperately needs both the individual attention and the affection. He has been blind since birth and is mentally handicapped.

But he is learning. Johnny is a pupil at Hope School for Blind-Multiple Handicapped Children, an institution devoted to rescuing such youngsters from their lonely, frustrating worlds.

15,000 in U. S.

There are an estimated 15,000 blind children in the United States who are mentally retarded and also may have other physical handicaps.

Because they are blind, they can't get admittance to schools for the retarded. Because they are functionally handicapped, they can't enter schools for the blind.

That is why Hope School was founded.

Johnny, one of 28 pupils in the school, is the only child in his class. There are two desks, his and his teacher's.

"The object is to establish rapport between one and one," said Maurice Tretakoff, director of the school. "Johnny must be taught in a room where there is no competition."

"We believe we're the first to try to combat this problem in depth," Tretakoff said.

Johnny, who came to Hope School in June 1965 from Chicago, now has a vocabulary of 10 words. His hands no longer have to be restrained and self-inflicted scratches and sores on his hands and face are healing.

"These children are afraid," Tretakoff said. "They are their own worst enemies. The answer is human contact and lots of it."

Contact, Tretakoff said, is a child letting you know he is listening. Then, and only then, can training begin.

Hopefully, Johnny one day will join others in organized activities. Across the hall from his one-pupil classroom, 10 children were seated in a semicircle keeping time with sticks to recorded march music.

One, Mary Lou, 9, was "practically a vegetable" when she came to Hope School five years ago, Tretakoff said. Today she can dress herself, find her way to and from her room and is learning Braille.

Another is Judy Jordan, now 18, whose parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Jordan of Springfield, founded Hope School in 1957.

No School for Her

Because Judy was blind, retarded and emotionally disturbed, her parents could find no school for her. They traveled in vain throughout the United States and parts of the world.

When a state official suggested that Jordan "put Judy in a mental hospital and forget about her," he was so shocked he decided to set up his own school.

The first school was an old six-room house. Jordan, a dentist, hired a housekeeper and a nurse, Judy, then 11, was joined by a Springfield boy with similar afflictions. The enrollment continued to grow.

Today a new Hope School, a $600,000 modern brick-and-glass building, is nestled in a wooded area along Lake Springfield.

Its 28 pupils come from 11 states. The school is besieged by requests from parents who want to enroll their children.

The school's two cottages which adjoin the classrooms and administrative offices will be expanded eventually to 10 persons, Tretakoff said.

Most parents with children at Hope School are able to pay only a fraction of the $20,000 annually it costs to care for each child. The rest comes from public donations.

Airlines Behind Trains in Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's super-express electric train is giving domestic airlines the blues.

The train covers the 322 miles between Japan's two biggest cities, Tokyo and Osaka, in three hours 10 minutes. The sleek white and blue Hikari — Flash — trains dart out of Tokyo's central station 26 times a day.

Was Gold Mine

The route used to be a gold mine for the airlines. Their jets flew the distance in half an hour, but the trip between downtown Tokyo and downtown Osaka takes about 2½ hours.

Said a passenger riding the Hikari on a business trip:

"The difference in time gained now is no longer worth the trouble of driving out to the airport, waiting around for takeoff, taking the risk of flying, and then having to drive back through dense traffic into downtown Osaka."

When the fastest express took six hours to reach Osaka, it was not always easy to get a plane booking.

One month after the Hikari started operating Oct. 1, 1964, with a cautious experimental five-hour schedule, Japan Air Lines suffered a 38 per cent drop in the number of passengers on its Tokyo-Osaka route.

compared to the same month the previous year.

Last April the train time was cut to four hours, and another 50 minutes were slashed Nov. 1, giving the Hikari an average speed of 103 miles per hour.

At the end of November, Japan Air Line noted a 28 per cent drop compared to October in Tokyo-Osaka traffic. The other airline flying the run, All Japan Airlines, suffered a 25 per cent decline.

Airline officials have no effective measures to counteract the rail service.

Plans to speed up the trip between city center and airport with a helicopter service were dropped because the fare would be double that of a taxi.

Always Booked Solid

The airlines' disadvantage concerns only the Tokyo-Osaka stretch, a relatively short trip. Jets fly from Tokyo to Fukuoka, or to Sapporo in one hour. The express trains take more than 10 hours.

In addition to the 26 Hikari trains, making stops at Nagoya and Kyoto, there are 26 round trips by the same type train, called Kodama — Echo — with a four-hour schedule.

All 800 seats on the Hikari are reserved — and almost always booked solid.

The Hikari is so smooth and silent, racing on long jointless rails, that it has surprised and killed several track workers. But not a passenger has been killed or injured.

Favor Packers to Win In Western Conference

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay should wrap up the Western Conference title Sunday on the final day of the season if the Packers can generate the same smashing power they showed in beating Baltimore last Sunday.

The battered Colts figure to have their hands full Saturday against the revived Los Angeles Rams in the Coliseum. Chicago can be expected to pull out all the stops against Minnesota with Gale Sayers going for the scoring title and the Bears still clinging to a hope of a tie for first.

It's the last time around for the Hand-picked. Last week's 8-3 record made it 60-30-1 in the NFL, 28-15-5 in the AFL and 88-45-6 for the season.

Let's try once more: (All games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

NFL

Los Angeles 21, Baltimore 14, Saturday — with Gary Cuozzo out of action, Tom Matte or Ed Brown must carry the load in this nationally televised game over CBS. Colts desperately need this one but must go with inexperienced passer or vet who never has worked with receivers.

Green Bay 21, San Francisco 14 — Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor looked like one-two punch of old against Colts and Bart Starr was on beam. Solid Packer defense beat 49ers 27-10 in mid-October but it must be at top level to handle John Brodie-Dave Parks battery. San Francisco offense in high gear but their defense hasn't stopped many Packers favored.

Washington 28, Pittsburgh 10 — Redskins are trying safety Paul Krause at split end and Pat Richter out and are benching Charley Taylor for George Hugley. Steelers in tough shape have lost six in a row and had nine passes intercepted last week by Eagles. Washington romped 31-3 Nov. 21 and should repeat. Redskins favored.

Chicago 42, Minnesota 21 — All out for the races. Gale Sayers scored six last week and ripped the Vikings for four TDs the first time they saw him Oct. 17 in 45-37 Chicago win. Vikings snapped out of it against Lions but their defense is in for another long afternoon. Bears favored.

New York 28, Dallas 24 — This is for second place and a trip to the Playoff Bowl at Miami. Giants go if they win or tie. Cowboys must win to get the sun tan.

Cleveland 28, St. Louis 14 — Charley Johnson underwent shoulder operation this week so head-up Cards must go with Buddy Humphrey. Browns had their letdown in Los Angeles and should be tuning up for Jan. 2 title game. Jim Brown needs TDs to catch up with Sayers. Cleveland favored despite 49-13 beating by St. Louis, Sept. 26.

Philadelphia 17, Detroit 14 — Eagles have more punch, but Lions' rugged defense will make it real tight.

AFL

Boston 28, Houston 21 Saturday — George Blanda threw three TDs in Oilers' Sept. 19 victory 31-10, but Pats are moving in stretch and Houston is staggering. If Jets lose to Buffalo, this could be for second place in the East. It's on national television from Boston over NBC. Boston favored.

Buffalo 37, New York 21 — Bills have beaten Jets once in regular season and twice in exhibitions and must stay sharp to be ready for Dec. 26 title game at San Diego. Jets hopeful Matt Snell's ankle will be solid enough to let him play. Buffalo favored.

Oakland 21, San Diego 14 — Chargers won't let Keith Lincoln, but Paul Lowe needs only 11 yards to top league rushing record. Oakland was in race until last week and Al Davis would like to get even for Sept. 19 defeat by Chargers 17-6. San Diego favored.

Kansas City 31, Denver 21 — Denver will go with Jackie Lee at quarterback, hoping to reverse earlier 31-23 defeat. Chiefs shaken by death of Mack Lee Hill will shift Curt McClinton to fullback and use Bery Coan at halfback. Chiefs favored.

Rondout Hosts Pine Bush Club; OCS at Wallkill

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Having put away contending Monticello for the time being, Kingston High cagers have a "softer" in the DUSO league tonight. They play at Port Jervis and the Raiders figure to finish the season in the cellar.

The action is heavy in all three leagues. The rest of the DUSO slate has Liberty at Monticello, Middletown at Newburgh in City tussles and Fallsburgh at Ellenville in a Village scrap.

In the UCAL, unbeaten Marlboro plays at Highland while Pine Bush is at Rondout and Onteora at Wallkill.

Wappingers visits the Roosevelt gym and Arlington is at Lourdes in DCSL scraps.

A look at the standings and some capsule comments on the games:

Team	Won	Lost
Kingston	1	0
Middletown	1	0
Monticello	0	1
Port Jervis	0	1

KINGSTON AT PORT JERVIS — This will probably be the easiest game of the year for the locals. Port has been walloped, 63-45 by Delaware Valley and 81-44 by Middletown. Kingston looked good beating Monticello 62-53, and the pre-season favorites appear ready to live up to their advance billing.

MIDDLETOWN AT NEWBURGH — Coach Joe Gaspari's defending champions showed much poise and scoring power in demolishing Poughkeepsie. Middletown lost to an excellent Beacon club and beat Port Jervis. The relative strength of both teams will be shown in this one. Both are rated strong challengers for the DUSO title.

In the other City game, Monticello is favored to rebound against Liberty. Ellenville is picked to whip Fallsburgh in the Village contest.

Team	W	L
New Paltz	3	0
Marlboro	2	0
Pine Bush	2	1
Onteora	1	1
Rondout Valley	1	2
Highland	0	2
Wallkill	0	3

PINE BUSH AT RONDOUT — A "must" game for the Ganders. A third league setback will make it almost impossible to win the flag. Pine Bush shows a pair of wins but they have been over the weaker squads. The Ganders are returning home and should be tougher to beat.

ONTEORA AT WALLKILL — The Indians were tremendous in their win over Rondout and are favored to stop the home side. However, Wallkill is always tough within its own confines and Onteora must be wary of an upset.

MARLBORO AT HIGHLAND — A big rivalry but the home side doesn't seem to have enough to stop Jack O'Donnell's high-flying Dukes. Marlboro can run and shoot and Highland doesn't score often enough.

Wappingers	1	0
Lourdes	1	0
Roosevelt	1	1
Arlington	1	1
Poughkeepsie	0	1
Saugerties	0	3

WAPPINGERS AT ROOSEVELT — Jim Ruf's 40 points led the Falls men to a win over Poughkeepsie. Roosevelt stopped Saugerties but was upset by Lourdes. The Falls men are rated legitimate contenders while Roosevelt isn't highly touted.

ARLINGTON AT LOURDES — Though Lourdes surprised Roosevelt, it doesn't have the height to cope with Frank King's Admirals. Arlington was beaten by Beacon but the Bulldogs don't lose much, especially on their own floor.

Slugging Title To Bosox's Yaz

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox, runner-up to batting champion Tony Oliva of Minnesota last season, won the American League's slugging title in 1965, the final averages confirmed today.

Yastrzemski compiled a .536 slugging mark collecting 265 total bases in 494 times at bat. Among his extra-base hits were 45 doubles, three triples and 20 home runs.

Tony Conigliaro, another Boston outfielder, and first baseman Norm Cash of Detroit tied for second at .512. They were followed by Leon Wagner of Cleveland .495, Oliva .491, Willie Horton of Detroit .490 and Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees and Frank Howard, Washington, .477 each.

In the official batting averages released earlier this week, Yastrzemski had a .512 average to Oliva's .521.

Hurley Doberman Wins Rare Honor for Puppy

A Hurley Doberman Pinscher puppy, Bikini's Cotton Candy of Muse, has become the youngest dog in its class ever to be judged champion in the history of the American Kennel Club.

The 10 months, 14 day old puppy was crowned to thunderous applause last weekend at the Quaker City Doberman Pinscher Club Annual Specialty in Philadelphia.

William G. Blessing, a nationally prominent canine expert, rated "Brin-Brin" as he is known, over 49 of the best Dobermans of her sex in the nation.

The victory gave the Hurley dog her second five point major and a grand total of 17 points at her tender age, unprecedented in AKC history.

SITZ-MARKS
By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Don't let the title of this column throw you. It will deal with skiing, a topic we are monumentally unqualified to write about, but with the help of nice folks like Sharon Stahl and others, it might conceivably develop into a readable item once a week.

Sitzmark, as any skier can tell you, has a humorous connotation. It means essentially the depression left in the snow by a skier falling on his prat.

No vulgarity, intended, the word is a merger of two German words—sitz (act of sitting) and mark—mark.

It is intended to maintain the column on a loftier level of course, but don't look for a ponderous tome on the world of skiing. It will concern itself primarily with the people who make up the wonderful world of skiing in the county area.

It might possibly degenerate into a rhetorical sitzmark but for now let's just schuss, schuss, schuss!

Sharon Stahl, the efficient young publicist of the Trail Sweepers Club has volunteered to contribute items to this venture and should come up with many interesting tidbits.

The Trail Sweepers is probably the best organized and operated ski club in the mid-Hudson area and with the Rip Van Winkle Council and the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club generate the real enthusiasm for this phenomenally growing sport.

Miss Stahl's initial contribution which will appear under the permanent heading of "Sharon's Trail Sweepings" follows immediately.

Sharon's Trail Sweepings:
Bulletin—The Trail Sweepers' Basic Skiing Proficiency Exam scheduled Saturday at Highmount has been postponed to January 8. For the usual reason—no snow.

A trio of proud patrolmen they are—Co-Leaders Harry Stern and Dick Olmstead and Assistant Patrol Leader Warren Knaut. Next time you see them on the slopes at Hunter Mountain, notice the "Purple Star" on their parkas. The award, highest that can be given to a ski patrolman, was recently presented to each of the men by the National Ski Patrol System for saving three lives last winter. Only 94 such awards have been given in the last 30 years.

Announcement—Karl Plattner, former member of a champion Austrian national ski team and Hunter Mountain ski school director for the past six seasons, returns to his (and Hunter's) seventh season.

An Alpine ski clinic for Class A, B, and C skiers scheduled Saturday and Sunday at the Columbia Hotel ski area in Hurleyville. The clinic will include equipment, practice in walking, sliding, falling and rising, side stepping, diagonal side step, herringbone, straight running, snow plow, traverse, kick turns, and stem turns.

All members of the Council will have an opportunity to participate in Council Clinics, such as the clinic for the Nordic skier Dec. 18 (tomorrow) at the Mt. Beacon Ski Club and the West Point Ski Club.

will stand for years to come.

Magnificent Record
"Brin-Brin's" record to date consists of two Best of Opposites, two Best of Winners, two Winners, eight Reserves and seven firsts in Puppy Class. These wins in four short months would be considered outstanding for an adult dog, but when accomplished by a female dog that became champion at the age of 10 months and 14 days, they become unparalleled in Doberman history.

Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen have decided to rest "Brin-Brin" from the show world until the greatest show of them all, the Westminster on Feb. 14-15 at Madison Square Garden.

Ski Match - Making Service Bonanza for Rochester Girl

By JOHN W. BROWN
Rochester Times-Union

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Karen Maska of Rochester has set up a match-making service for her fellow skiers, but it's skis she matches not skiers.

Doing business as the International Broken Ski Exchange, Karen brings together skiers who have broken identical skis. They then may dicker for the remaining good ski and either buy or sell.

Karen, an attractive, brown-haired secretary, says she has seen many a disconsolate ski enthusiast walking or riding the chairlift down the slopes with one good and one broken ski.

In general, she notes, skis cost from $25 to more than $150 a pair and for most people, a single ski is a worthless item.

"There are at least two million skiers in this country alone," she points out "and every hour of every skiing day someone breaks a ski somewhere. The purpose of the exchange is to locate two of a kind and bring the information together in one place for everyone's benefit."

Started in Post Office
Karen started her business with a post office box, a stack of filing cards and a supply of mimeographed letters and information blanks, then placed an advertisement in a magazine for skiers.

If you have broken a ski, Karen will, for a $1 fee, file a card with an exact description of your remaining good one. If an exact mate is reported, she will put you in touch with its owner, for an additional $2.

Although her venture barely has started, Karen says she already has listed skis from seven states and the District of Columbia.

Now, she is having business cards printed. These she plans to hand, with a sympathetic smile, to owners of broken skis whom she chances to encounter on the slopes—a nice way to combine business and her favorite sport.

Dubin and Kaplan Bridge Winners
Milton Dubin and Stanley Kaplan led the North-South side with a fine 60½ per cent score in the Glenier Bridge Club's fractional point tournament. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peck of Woodland paced the East-West with 57½ per cent.

The runners were: North-South: Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara, Hurley, 59 per cent; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clark, Kingston, 56 per cent.

East-West: Roy Wulff-Peter Thomas, Kingston, 55½ per cent; Mrs. Josephine Ellis-Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft, Kingston, 55 per cent.

The monthly Master Point tournament is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Bridge Studio on Fair Street.

Unbeaten Orange Seeks 7th Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The undefeated Syracuse basketball team meets Connecticut's Huskies on its home court Saturday in a bid for its seventh straight win of the season.

The Orangemen, paced by Dave Bing, with 24 points, picked up a victory over previously unbeaten Penn State Thursday, 103-79.

The sharp-shooting New York quintet has scored 100 or more points in five of its six wins to date. Only Cornell has thwarted the Orange in reaching that mark as it fell in the closest game Syracuse has played this year, 87-81.

In other games involving Upstate New York college basketball teams:

Ithaca downed Cortland, 81-64; Niagara beat Genoa of Pennsylvania, 77-71; Rochester University edged Amherst, 59-57; St. Lawrence whipped Hobart, 99-79, and the Quantic Marines crushed Oswego State in the Quantic Marine Tournament, 78-39.

St. Lawrence guard Jim Balcerzak scored 21 points in leading his team to its first win in six games. Hobart is 0-4.

Ithaca, trailing at the half, broke loose for 54 points in the second half to bring its record to 4-2. The surge was led by George Valesente and Wayne Lyke, with a total of 20 and 19 points respectively.

Rochester won on a tap-in by Ron Brown in the second of play, ending a see-saw contest that saw Amherst's Phil Hart take individual scoring honors with 21 points.

Rookie of Year Award to Namath
By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's real nice," said Joe Namath when he was informed that he had been selected Rookie of the Year in the American Football League.

"You must have run out of candidates," And so, using the defense mechanism of the quick retort — that he has employed in accepting praise throughout the season while trying to avoid appearing immodest, the likeable $400,000 quarterback of the New York Jets accepted his latest honors.

Namath was selected Thursday by an Associated Press panel of 24 sports writers — three from each league city — and was a landslide winner with 18 votes to three for the runner-up, Denver linebacker John Bramlett.

Only three others received votes, running back Wendell Hayes of Denver and defensive back Kent McCloughan and linebacker Gus Otto, both of Oakland.

"Biggs didn't get any votes?" asked Namath, referring to teammate Verlon Biggs, the Jets' first-year defensive end. "I thought he'd be right up there."

"No, I can't consider it a good year," said Namath in answer to a question. "We won four, lost eight, tied one. That's not good. If I had been doing good, we would have won more."

"I'll have to admit I got bugged by a lot of things. But I learned you have to devote your entire thinking to the game. You've got to get the other things out of your mind. Otherwise, they only present problems."

Rosendale Ski Veteran to Aid In US Biathlon

WALTER G. WILLIAMS

Walter G. Williams of Rosendale has been named to the United States Olympic Committee it was announced today by Byron Nishkian of San Francisco, president of the United States Ski Association.

Williams will represent the USSA on the Olympic Committee in the selection and administration of a Biathlon team to represent the United States in the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, in February of 1968.

Additional members of the committee represent the Armed Forces and the National Rifle Association.

Area Ski Pioneer
A ski pioneer in Ulster County, Williams is currently chairman of the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club's Cross Country Committee and has been actively associated with the growth of the sport here for more than 30 years.

Williams was Chief of the Race in the National Biathlon Championships sponsored by the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club last winter.

His son, Lt. Ed. Williams is a member of the U. S. Biathlon squad and was a renowned college competitor at Dartmouth.

New Ski Sport
Biathlon, a relatively new ski event in America but as old as history itself in Scandinavia, is a 20-kilometer cross country ski race during which the competitors stop at designated areas for target shooting. A time penalty is added to the competitor's skiing time for each target miss.

A Swede won the event in the 1960 Olympics, with the first American, John Burritt, placing 14th.

In the 1964 Olympics, a Russian took first place, with the first American, Charles Akers of Andover, Maine, placing 16th.

Charles Kellogg of Andover, Mass., is the present National Champion, having won in Rosendale last winter.

Chargers' Lowe Is Top Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Lowe, the running sensation of the American Football League, has been voted the Comeback Player of the Year for his ability to bounce back strong after injuries threatened his career.

Lowe sat out the entire 1962 season with a broken arm and won the comeback award by gaining 1,000 yards in 1963. Last year he saw limited action due to a torn muscle in his right leg and his production dropped off to 513 yards and five touchdowns.

On opening day, Lowe ran for 122 yards against Denver and started on his way to his current total of 1,089 yards, only 10 short of the league record set by Clem Daniels of Oakland in 1963. The former Oregon State star has enjoyed four 100-yard-plus days and has the rushing title wrapped up with one game to go.

New Paltz is 2-1 to date and is favored to beat Albany State and advance to the finals on Saturday against the Siena-St. John's Fisher winner.

Local sports enthusiasts will be treated to a double header Saturday night.

The Senator's wrestling team will engage Westchester Community College at 6 p. m. in a preliminary to the UCCC-Westchester basketball game at 8 p. m.

Syracuse Basketball On the Comeback Trail

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer Syracuse, one of the disappointments of the college basketball season a year ago, is on the way back.

In contrast to their poor start last season when they won their first game then lost six in a row, the Orangemen chalked up their sixth straight against no defeats this season with a 103-79 victory over previously unbeaten Penn State Thursday night.

Dave Bing, a 6-foot-3 from Washington, D.C., delighted a record turnout of 6,913 at the Manley Field House on the Syracuse campus. He paced the Orange with 24 points, 10 rebounds and six assists.

Carver Clinton, with 28 points, led the Nittany Lions who stayed in contention until Syracuse took a nine-point lead 79-60 late in the second half.

Another youth from the nation's capital, Bob Lewis, also made headlines.

Lewis, a 6-3 junior, set an all-time individual one-game scoring record for North Carolina with 49 points as the Tar Heels swamped Florida State 115-80 at Chapel Hill.

Lewis hit on 18 of 25 shots from the field and got 13 of 16 free throws as he erased the previous Tar Heel one-game record of 48 points set last year by Billy Cunningham against Tulane in addition to Lewis' grabbed seven rebounds and handed out five assists.

Tony Hinkle, veteran Butler coach, again was thwarted in his bid for his 500th career victory when ninth-ranked Bradley defeated his Bulldogs 73-70 at Peoria. It was the seventh straight victory for the unbeaten Braves, the only team in the Associated Press Top Ten, to play Thursday.

Houston, paced by Joe Hammond's 20 points, won the unofficial championship of the two-day Bluebonnet Classic at Houston by defeating Texas A&M 90-85. The Cougars were the only ones to win on both nights.

South Carolina, which had surprised Duke, the AP's No. 1 team last week, took a 83-66 trouncing from NYU in the feature of a New York doubleheader. Stan McKenzie scored a career high of 37 points for the Violets. Unbeaten DePaul swamped Iona 82-37 in the other game at Madison Square Garden.

The 36-game winning streak of Central State of Ohio, No. 1 in the AP small-college poll, was snapped by Steubenville 59-57 on John Hummel's jump shot in the last second of play. The Evansville Aces, No. 2 and defending NCAA small-college champs, also lost. They were beaten by Mt. St. Mary's 83-81 on Mike Lyons' layup with eight seconds left.

Toronto Leafs Win 4th Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Toronto Maple Leafs, winning-streak spoilers for the rest of the National Hockey League, are putting together a neat little string of their own.

The Leafs, who snapped Detroit's seven-game winning string Wednesday, put an end to Montreal's eight-game unbeaten skein 3-2 Thursday and now have a four-game unbeaten string of their own going.

Southwest Gets Another Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow fell heavily again on the mountains of the Southwest today and rain pelted the border region from California to New Mexico.

In northern Arizona and through the state's eastern mountains, the Weather Bureau warned of another four inches of snowfall.

There was snow also in the northern Rockies, over most of the Great Lakes region and in a few spots in northern New England.

Fog and light rain came simultaneously over a wide area between eastern Texas and the middle Atlantic States.

Subzero cold gripped the Northern Plains for the third straight night.

At Butte, Mont., the early morning reading was 16 below zero. It was -11 at Ely, Nev.

Southern California caught a snafu of showers Thursday, and the Mojave Desert was blanketed by a two-inch snowfall, with additional accumulations expected.

Scranton Intercedes, Bill Ready for Vote

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A proposal to give the State Human Relations Commission injunctive powers was ready to vote in the Pennsylvania Senate today because of the personal intervention of Gov. William Scranton with the Republican caucus.

Apparently rebuffed a day earlier by the Republican majority, the governor Thursday went before the 28-member GOP caucus to ask support for the bill allowing injunctions to prevent the sale of property involved in discrimination complaints.

On a reported vote of 14-11, with three members not voting, the GOP caucus agreed to the provision, but cut the proposed life of such injunctions from 90 to 30 days.

3 Persons Hurt, Driver Cited in Ulster Mishap

Three persons were injured and a Saugerties man was cited by State Police Thursday afternoon, as the result of a two-car collision which occurred at the intersection of Boice's Lane and Morton Boulevard, Town of Ulster.

Trooper Richard Dempsey of Lake Katrine substation, said the cars were operated by Mrs. Sylvia Gundberg, 63, Kerhonkson, and Michael Battaglia, 43, Saugerties.

Mrs. Gundberg sustained injuries of the left leg, back and right arm, troopers reported. Battaglia received head injuries and Ruth Gundberg, 35, also of Kerhonkson, complained of possible injuries of the neck and shoulders.

Battaglia was summoned by Trooper Norman Kilfoyle to appear at a later date in justice's court on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Troopers reported Mrs. Gundberg was driving east on Boice's Lane and Battaglia was traveling north on Morton Boulevard and attempting a left turn at the time of the collision.

Orange Records 62nd Fatality

Orange County's traffic death toll for 1965 climbed to 62 on Thursday after fatal highway mishaps occurred in the Towns of Goshen and Mount Hope.

Monroe State Police reported Joseph Goldberg, 39, of Watkins Avenue, Middletown, was killed at 3:10 p. m. yesterday when hit by a car operated by William Plotvin, 30, of 6 Mary Avenue, Goshen.

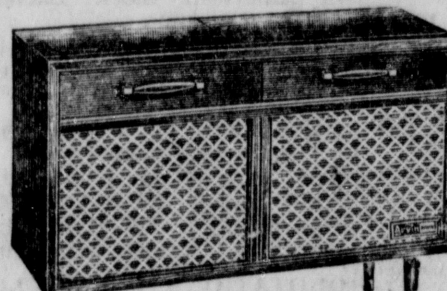

Troopers said Plotvin was driving north on Route 17, Town of Goshen at the time of the accident. Coroner Kenneth March gave a verdict of accidental death.

A two-car collision at 4:35 p. m. Thursday at the intersection of Spruce and Ledge Roads, Town of Mount Hope, Orange County, resulted in the death of a 17-year-old Middletown youth and critically injured another teenager.

Middletown State Police reported Thomas LaBoda, of Middletown, died at Horton Memorial Hospital, that city, at 7:30 p. m. of a fractured skull. Troopers said he was a passenger in a car operated by Robert Hahn, 17, also of Middletown, who was rushed to the hospital suffering multiple injuries.

Hahn's condition was listed as critical. State troopers said Hahn and LaBoda were both ejected from the vehicle as it overturned after colliding with a car operated by Martin Januario, 32, of Middletown, who apparently escaped injury. Januario was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Cyclone Slams East Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)

The Pakistani government rushed relief teams and supplies today to the cyclone-devastated coast of East Pakistan where many thousands were reported dead.

The Pakistani News Agency reported that 2,000 persons were killed but other reports said the death toll was much higher. The cyclone's twisting 100-mile-an-hour winds, followed by a 12-foot tidal wave and heavy rains, devastated crops and villages.

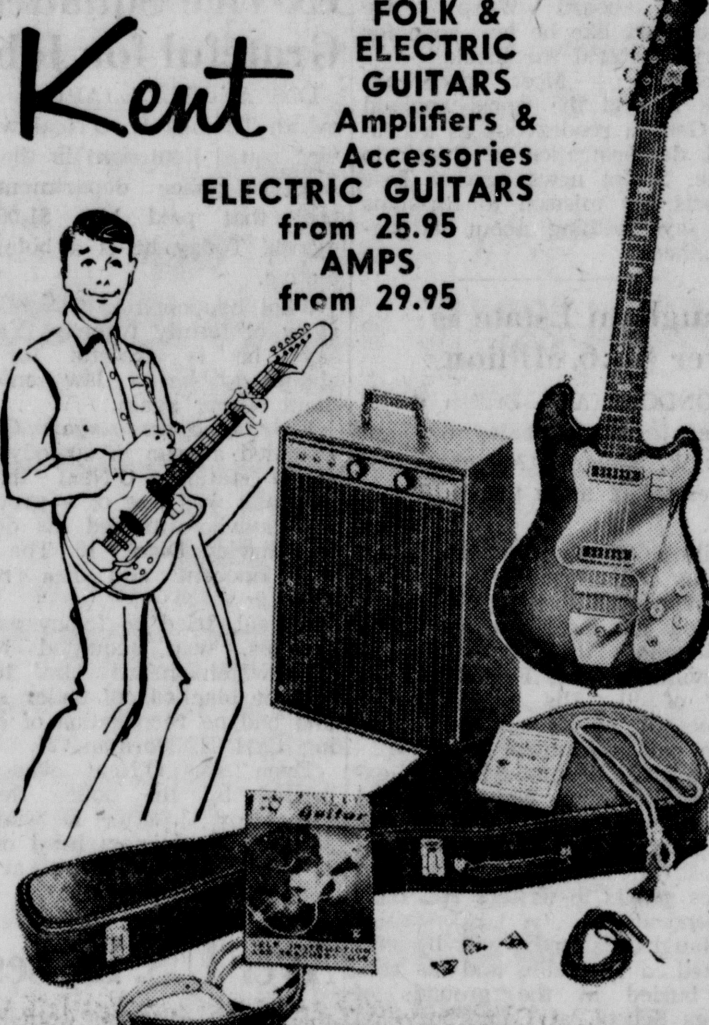

The governor of East Pakistan flew from Dacca to Chittagong to direct relief operations.

The cyclone started in the Bay of Bengal, which is formed by India, East Pakistan and Burma. The storm hit at Cox's Bazar, moved up the coast through Chittagong, about 200 miles east of Calcutta, and then blew itself out as it moved northeast.

Naval units searched for survivors on the many small islands dotting the coast. Two hundred deep-sea fishermen were reported missing off Sonadia Island.

Falls account for the largest number of accidents in the home.
